

The background of the entire image is a mosaic of numerous saints, each depicted with a golden halo. The saints are arranged in rows, with some appearing more prominently than others. The style is reminiscent of Byzantine or Orthodox Christian art, with a focus on the faces and halos of the figures. The colors are primarily earthy tones like gold, brown, and ochre.

A Land Like Your Own Jason M. Silverman, Amy Daughton, 2010-09-01 A land like our own explores the ways the Bible has reused previous traditions and has subsequently been reused by both Jews and Christians The editors employ the symbol of the Land as indicative of both loss and hope reflective of the ways in which the past is variously figured and re configured by the authors of both Testaments

Contesting the Body of Christ Myles Werntz, 2025-08-05 The church changed tremendously in the twentieth century with new churches emerging and old churches being renewed This period encompassed the birth of the World Council of Churches the rise of American evangelicalism the Second Vatican Council the coming of age of charismatic Christianity and more In this book Myles Werntz explores the landscape of twentieth century ecclesiology and shows how the four marks of the church were remade contested and reaffirmed in surprising and innovative ways in the course of this turbulent century Werntz asks what it means to say that the church is one holy catholic and apostolic amid so many diverse alternatives He explains how the many dynamics of the twentieth century posed both theological and ethical challenges for confessing the marks of the church but also what promise comes from expanding our vision of how God might be at work across traditions Werntz shows that the four marks of the church can help us see what the last century brought and what we might learn from it now He also provides guidance for the future of the twenty first century church The book includes a foreword from Ephraim Radner

A Church with Open Doors Richard R. Gaillardetz, Edward P. Hahnenberg, 2015-05-06 Catholic ecclesiology stands at the threshold of a new moment in the reception of the Second Vatican Council The election of Pope Francis coinciding with the fiftieth anniversary of the council has inspired a fresh consideration of its teaching in such diverse areas as ecumenism inculturation missiology and ministry The chapters in this volume have their origin in a special symposium that called together over forty of the leading Catholic scholars from throughout North America in order to discuss the future of theological reflection on the church The nine essays in this volume guided that conversation and offer an entry into some of the most pressing issues in ecclesiology today

Cruciform Ecumenism Elizabeth Smith Woodard, 2019-09-06 The truth claims of Christianity appear compromised by the division of Christ's followers into different denominations What keeps Christians separated retreating to their corners labeled Catholic Orthodox and various types of Protestant Elizabeth Smith Woodard accounts for Christian disunity in terms of ecclesiology episcopacy and apostolicity in brief Who are we Who is in charge And are we who we say we are Woodard argues that the controversial issues dividing Christians today stem from these questions of authority and identity What would it look like Woodard asks if Christians did not insist on making others more like us but instead worked toward all of us becoming more and more like Christ She answers that growing in such cruciformity should serve as the basis for unity Using recent unity achieving Anglican Lutheran discussions as a case study she examines the crucial intersection of ecclesiology episcopacy and apostolicity to argue that Christians growth in Christ's mission necessarily entails growing in unity and cruciformity

Urban Ecclesiology Pascal D. Bazzell, 2015-05-21 Pascal D Bazzell brings the marginal ecclesiology of a Filipino ecclesial community facing homelessness FECH into contemporary ecclesiological conversation in order to deepen the ecumenical understanding of today's ecclesial reality He contributes relevant data to support a theory of an ecclesial oriented paradigm that fosters ecclesial communities within homeless populations There is an extensive dialogue occurring between ecclesiologies church planting theories or urban missions and the urban poor Yet the situation with the homeless population is almost entirely overlooked The majority of urban mission textbooks do not acknowledge an ecclesial oriented state of being and suggest that the street level environment is a place where no discipleship can occur and no church should exist By presenting the FECH s case study Bazzell emphasizes that it is possible to live on the streets and to grow in the faith of God as an ecclesial community To be able to describe the FECH s ecclesial narrative Bazzell develops a local ecclesiological methodology that aims to bridge the gap between more traditional systematic and theoretical ideal ecclesiology and practical oriented ecclesiology e g congregational studies in order to hold together theological and social understandings of the church in its local reality He articulates a theological framework for the FECH to reflect on who they are the essence of identity studies who they are in relationship to God the essence of theological studies and what that means for believers in that community as they relate to God and to each other in ways that are true to who they are and to who God intends them to be the essence of ecclesial studies The research provides a seldom heard empirical tour into the FECH s social world and communal identity The theological findings from the FECH s hermeneutical work on the Gospel of Mark reveal an understanding of church being developed as gathering around Jesus that creates a space for God s presence to be embodied in their ordinary relationships and activities and to invite others to participate in that gathering Moreover it addresses ecclesial issues of the supernatural world honor shame values and further develop the neglected image of the familia Dei in classical ecclesiology that encapsulates well the FECH s nature mission and place

Receptive Ecumenism and the Call to Catholic Learning Paul Murray, 2010-05-06 This volume proposes a fresh strategy for ecumenical engagement Receptive Ecumenism that is fitted to the challenges of the contemporary context and has already been internationally recognised as making a distinctive and important new contribution to ecumenical thought and practice Beyond this the volume tests and illustrates this proposal by examining what Roman Catholicism in particular might fruitfully learn from its ecumenical others Challenging the tendency for ecumenical studies to ask whether explicitly or implicitly What do our others need to learn from us this volume presents a radical challenge to see ecumenism move forward into action by highlighting the opposite question What can we learn with integrity from our others This approach is not simply ecumenism as shared mission or ecumenism as problem solving and incremental agreement but ecumenism as a vital long term programme of individual communal and structural conversion driven like the Gospel that inspires it by the promise of conversion into greater life and flourishing The aim is for the Christian traditions to become more not less than they currently are by learning from or receiving of each other s gifts The 32 original essays that have been written for this unique volume explore these issues from a wide variety of denominational and disciplinary perspectives drawing together ecclesiologists professional ecumenists sociologists psychologists and organizational experts
