McJamerson, Ph. D.,2016-02-11 This author is onto something groundbreaking by combining literature counseling education and critical thinking Dr Jean Kerney Educational Consultant Chillicothe Ohio The students and I experienced shocking revelations as they researched their selected celebrities As an Instructor I saw students were excited about learning that each celebrity they chose had a story which inspired drive to reach their glory Students had taken it at face value that these people's lives were always perfect Secondly I think this curriculum project gave students much needed advice Advice impacts differently when it comes from someone you idolize It gave these freshmen ideas of how to handle college and how to navigate issues in their lives Most importantly this project allowed students to exhale they now know whatever their struggles they are not alone Dr Jessie Broussard Researcher and Instructor University of Louisiana Lafayette When I was introduced to the Reconstructing Lives Project I was delighted to have a new way to assess my students comprehension of teaching theories Teacher candidates thought the theories were boring however they eventually found that connecting theories to their icons and later to themselves was meaningful The majority of my students felt the redemption that it brought them They didn't write it all in their papers rather they came to my office and explained what the project meant to them personally What surprised me most in 10 years of using the Project was the fact that it was not only a measure of student learning but also a measure of how much I could teach them about theory about my life and about their own life success Dr Felicie Barnes Professor of Education Retired Grambling State University Companion Workbook available at www.amazon.com RE MAKE AN ICON SO YOU CAN PRODUCE ONE Re-Make an Icon so You Can Produce One in Yourself & Others Nanthalia McJamerson Ph. D., 2019-06-23 This Re Make an Icon Project will give you a new way to look at yourself as a future icon while you study your icon's autobiography You will remake your icon by investigating the details of his or her problems and discovering the solutions The fun part will be rewriting his or her life story For example you can create The Other Albert Einstein or The Other Oprah or The Other Beyoncé Later you will investigate your life and learn to bring forth more of your own and others potential greatness The Re Make an Icon Project is based on the foundations of human development critical pedagogy and aesthetic education For more than twenty years this project has helped hundreds of people from teenagers to retirees learn success secrets and tools while having fun working on higher achievement If you complete the entire process you will see yourself and others as valued and capable of greater achievement Revisiting Star Studies Sabrina Qiong Yu, 2017-04-13 Challenges traditional Hollywood derived models of star studies Is classical Hollywood stardom the last word on film stars How do film stars function in non Hollywood contexts such as Bollywood East Asia and Latin America and what new developments has screen stardom undergone in recent years both in Hollywood and elsewhere Gathering together the most important new research on star studies with case studies of stars from many different cultures this diverse and dynamic collection looks at film stardom from new angles challenging the received wisdom on the subject and raising important questions about image performance bodies voices and fans in cultures across the globe From Hollywood to Bollywood from China to Italy and from Poland to Mexico this collection revisits the definitions and origins of star studies and points the way forward to new ways of approaching the field Key features Features cutting edge research on stardom and fandom from a range of different cultures contributed by a diverse and international range of scholars Generates new critical models that address non Hollywood forms of stardom as well as under researched areas of stardom in Hollywood itself Revisits the definitions of stars and star studies that are previously defined by the study of Hollywood stardom then points the way forward to new ways of approaching the field Looks at stars stardom within a new local translocal model to overcome the Hollywood centrism inherent to the existing national transnational model Brings into light various types of previously unacknowledged star texts Employs a dynamic interdisciplinary approach Contributors Guy Austin Newcastle University Linda Berkvens University of Sussex Pam Cook University of Southampton Elisabetta Girelli University of St
