Natural Resources, Volatility, and Inclusive Growth Mr.Rabah Arezki,Mr.Mustapha K. Nabli,2012-05-01 This paper takes stock of the economic performance of resource rich countries in the Middle East and North Africa MENA over the past forty years While those countries have maintained high levels of income per capita they have performed poorly when going beyond the assessment based on standard income level measures Resource rich countries in MENA have experienced relatively low and non inclusive economic growth as well as high levels of macroeconomic volatility Important improvements in health and education have taken place but the quality of the provision of public goods and services remains an important source of concerns Looking forward we argue that the success of economic reforms in MENA rests on the ability of those countries to invest boldly in building inclusive institutions as well as high levels of human capacity in public administrations

The Politics of Oil Dag Harald Claes,2018-11-30 The Politics of Oil brings together legal studies economics and political science to illustrate how governments gain and exercise control over oil resources and how political actors influence the global oil market both individually and in cooperation with each other The author also investigates the role of oil in preserving regime stability in civil wars and in inter state conflicts as well as discussing the possible implications for the oil industry from policies to combat climate change

Andean States and the Resource Curse Gerardo Damonte,Bettina Schorr,2021-12-02 This volume explores institutional change and performance in the resource rich Andean countries during the last resource boom and in the early post boom years The latest global commodity boom has profoundly marked the face of the resource rich Andean region significantly contributing to economic growth and notable reductions of poverty and income inequality The boom also constituted a period of important institutional change with these new institutions sharing the potential of preventing or mitigating the maladies extractive economies tend to suffer from generally denominated as the resource curse This volume explores these institutional changes in the Andean region to identify the factors that have shaped their emergence and to assess their performance The interdisciplinary and comparative perspective of the chapters in this book provide fine grained analyses of different new institutions introduced in the Andean countries and discusses their findings in the light of the resource curse approach They argue that institutional change and performance depend upon a much larger set of factors than those generally identified by the resource curse literature Different domestic and external economic political and cultural factors such as ideological positions of decision makers international pressure or informal practices have shaped institutional dynamics in the region Altogether these findings emphasize the importance of nuanced and contextualized analysis to better understand institutional dynamics in the context of extractive economies This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of the extractive industries natural resource management political economics Latin American studies and sustainable development The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Greening the South African Economy Mark Swilling, Josephine Kaviti Musango, Jeremy Wakeford, 2016-02-23 The depletion of South Africa's and in some cases the world's natural resources and the degradation of environmental sinks including the atmosphere lakes and rivers and land are continuing at such a rate that natural resource prices are climbing and many critical ecosystem services that underpin human welfare are increasingly threatened The concept of the green economy has gained increasing traction in South African policy discourses over the past few years However in much of this discourse it is viewed in a piecemeal way as one part or sector of the economy e.g. an industrial sector dealing with manufacture and installation of renewable energy technologies and energy efficient equipment and appliances In the view of the authors greening the South African economy requires an application of sustainability principles and practices across the full range of primary secondary and tertiary sectors of the economy in an integrated manner The aim of this book is therefore to apply principles of sustainability and green economics to the entire South African socio-economic system and its major elements in an integrated and comprehensive manner

Fiscal Politics Vitor Gaspar, Mr. Sanjeev Gupta, Mr. Carlos Mulas-Granados, 2017-04-07 Two main themes of the book are that 1 politics can distort optimal fiscal policy through elections and through political fragmentation and 2 rules and institutions can attenuate the negative effects of this dynamic The book has three parts part 1 9 chapters outlines the problems part 2 6 chapters outlines how institutions and fiscal rules can offer solutions and part 3 4 chapters discusses how multilevel governance frameworks can help

The Economy of Ghana Sixty Years after Independence Ernest Aryeetey, Ravi Kanbur, 2017-02-09 As Ghana approaches its 60th birthday optimism and worries for the future continue to be present in equal measure Economic growth in the last decade has been high by historical standards Indeed recent rebasing of GDP figures has put Ghana over the per capita income threshold into Middle Income Country status However structural transformation has lagged behind Fiscal discipline has also eroded significantly and there is heavy borrowing especially on the commercial market while elements of the natural resource curse from oil have already occurred The question most observers ask is whether the gains from two decades of reforms are being reversed Given this background this volume brings together leading established and young economists from within and outside Ghana to analyze and assess the challenges facing Ghana's economy as it enters its seventh decade and the nation heads towards three quarters of a century of independence. The chapters cover the major macroeconomic and sectoral issues including fiscal and monetary policy, trade and industrialization, agriculture and infrastructure. The volume also covers a full range of social issues including poverty and inequality, education, health, gender and social protection. The book also examines the implications of the oil boom for Ghanaian development and the role of institutions.
