BIOMES

Take a closer look at the images above. Each is home to a variety of plants and animals, but no two are the same. Although they're all capable to life, there are quite a lot of differences too. Many of these differences are abiotic, or have to do with the non-living parts of the environment. Abiotic factors include temperature, the amount of oxygen in the air or water, and the kind of soil present.

infer, or make your best guess, about some of the abiotic factors in each of the images.

| Location | Temperature | Amount of rainfall |
|----------|-------------|--------------------|
| A        |             |                    |
| B        |             |                    |
| C        |             |                    |

Specifying these locations are all home to many trees, or living, factors as well. What kinds of species do you think live in each of these places? Feel free to list plants, animals, birds, fish, insects, and even microscopic life like bacteria!

| Location | Species Living There |
|----------|----------------------|
| A        |                      |

Chaparral

Tundra

Lastly, the chapparral biome is a coastal biome with hot, dry summers and mild winters. It has mostly shrubs with a few short trees. Deer, birds, and rabbits live in the chapparral.

Tundra When we think of deserts, we usually think of a hot and dry place, but did you know that deserts can be cold too? The Tundra in Alaska is the largest cold desert, but there is so much snow (and) that it's still considered a desert. Both plants and animals must adapt to dry life in the desert. Many develop unique ways of surviving such as water storage.

BIOMES

Answer the following questions using the world map.

1. Which land biome is the largest?
2. Which continents have this biome on them?
3. Which continent has the most different biomes?
4. What biomes does it have?
5. Name 3 biomes present in Africa.
6. Name 3 continents with mountain forests.

BIOMES

Use the reading and any other resources available to complete the table.

| Biome               | Weather/Climate | Plants & Animals | Geographic Location(s) |
|---------------------|-----------------|------------------|------------------------|
| Marine              |                 |                  |                        |
| Freshwater          |                 |                  |                        |
| Savanna             |                 |                  |                        |
| Temperate Grassland |                 |                  |                        |

Forest

extremely nutrient rich soil. Here you'll find a variety of plants and animals. Due to their dry and hot climate, plants in both savanna and grasslands are adapted to survive relatively common fires.

Desert

When we think of deserts, we usually think of a hot and dry place, but did you know that deserts can be cold too? The Great Salt Desert in Utah is the largest cold desert in the world. It's cold there, but there is so much snow (and) that it's still considered a desert. Both plants and animals must adapt to dry life in the desert. Many develop unique ways of surviving such as water storage or the ability to remain dormant (similar to hibernation) for a long time.

Forest

There are several different kinds of forest biomes, including: The rainforest is most likely the most famous forest. This lush biome is home to a vast number of plants and animals. Rainforests are home to a wide variety of species and are found in nearly every part of the world.

The temperate forest is common in the US, Canada, Europe, and Asia. Here you'll find deciduous trees that lose their leaves in the winter. In fact, that's what this biome is famous for. It's a unique biome, and the forests are found in nearly every part of the world.

The boreal is a cold forest with cone-bearing, coniferous trees. These forests are found in Northern Canada and Russia. The days are long in the summer and short in the winter due to the amount of snow that falls, so the trees are adapted to survive.

BIOMES

Earth is an amazing planet. It has many different environments that make perfect homes for millions of species. The largest major habitats that exist worldwide are known as biomes. Most likely, you're familiar with many of these: desert, rainforest, grassland, etc. Each biome is unique and has its own set of characteristics that make it different from the others. One of the most important factors in maintaining biodiversity, or the amazing variety of life, that makes our Earth so abundant in species and resources.

How many biomes are there? Do all water environments constitute a single aquatic biome? Are all fire-filled ecosystems considered a forest biome? The number of biomes you could simply depend on how specific you'd like to be. Let's take a look at some of the largest biomes, and the abiotic and biotic factors that define them.
