A Very Civil People Hebridean Folk History And Tradition:

A Very Civil People John Lorne Campbell,2000 Some of John Lorne Campbell s best research and work was in his essays and shorter pieces This is a collection of this material The pieces are chosen not simply to reflect the range and diversity on which John Lorne s scholarship was brought to bear but also through a number of occasional pieces his observations on the people and the Hebrides of his day The collection gives a picture of the man and his interests and a series of insights into figures as disparate as Compton Mackenzie and Father Allan Macdonald of Eriskay Our Ancient National Airs:

Scottish Song Collecting from the Enlightenment to the Romantic Era Karen McAulay,2016-05-13 One of the earliest documented Scottish song collectors actually to go into the field to gather his specimens was the Highlander Joseph Macdonald Macdonald emigrated in 1760 contemporaneously with the start of James Macpherson s famous but much disputed Ossian project and it fell to the Revd Patrick Macdonald to finish and subsequently publish his younger brother s collection Karen McAulay traces the complex history of Scottish song collecting and the publication of major Highland and Lowland collections over the ensuing 130 years Looking at sources authenticity collecting methodology and format McAulay places these collections in their cultural context and traces links with contemporary attitudes towards such wide ranging topics as the embryonic tourism and travel industry cultural nationalism fakery and forgery literary and musical creativity and the move from antiquarianism and dilettantism towards an increasingly scholarly and didactic tone in the mid to late Victorian collections Attention is given to some of the performance issues raised either in correspondence or in the paratexts of published collections and the narrative is interlaced with references to contemporary literary social and even political history as it affected the collectors themselves Most significantly this study demonstrates a resurgence of cultural nationalism in the late nineteenth century Duanaire Na Sracaire Wilson McLeod,Meg Bateman,2017-07-03 The definitive he gave it to the National Trust for Scotland in 1981 he still had to fight to secure his legacy This acclaimed book is an insightful and human portrait of one of the twentieth century s most significant scholars of the Gaelic world and of his 60 year partnership with Margaret Fay Shaw who together created the world famous library of Gaelic song and other material at Canna House Edinburgh History of the Book in Scotland, Volume 2 Stephen W Brown,2011-11-30 The first thorough study of the book trade during the age of Fergusson and Burns The Vatersay Raiders Ben Buxton,2012-09-12 A Scottish historian recounts how Hebridean croft farmers raided a neighboring island in order to survive and sparked a national debate over land rights In 1906 men from the Hebridean islands of Barra and Mingulay took possession of the uninhabited island of Vatersay Two years later they were imprisoned for refusing to leave and for building huts and planting potatoes without permission The case caused an outcry across Scotland and the government eventually bought Vatersay for the purpose of croft farming In the first book on the subject historian Ben Buxton tell the full story of the Vatersay Raiders their struggle to escape the oppressive policies of an absentee landowner the raiding and settlement of the island and the fraught process of dividing it up into crofts The book also documents the larger history of Vatersay from intriguing monuments of prehistory to shipwrecks and the 19th century evictions that left it uninhabited An outline of subsequent developments including the Vatersay Causeway which connects the island to Barra completes the narrative Edinburgh History of the Book in Scotland, Volume 2: Enlightenment and Expansion 1707-1800 Stephen W. Goodare,L. Martin,J. Miller,2007-12-04 This pioneering collection concentrates on witchcraft beliefs rather than witch hunting It ranges widely across areas of popular belief culture and ritual practice as well as dealing with intellectual life and incorporating regional and comparative elements Gaelic Cape Breton Step-Dancing John G. Gibson,2017-07-04 Placing the phenomenon of Gaelic Cape Breton step dancing into an historical perspective Oatmeal and the Catechism Margaret Bennett,1998 Oatmeal and the Catechism is the story of emigrants from the Outer Hebrides to Quebec in the latter half of the nineteenth century Most were crofting families from Lewis who had suffered the severe effects of the potato famine of 1846 51 As a solution to the increasing pressure on landlords and government relief bodies they were offered free passage to Lower Canada and given land grants in the Eastern Townships To this day place names such as Stornoway Tolsta Ness and Dell in Canada testify to the strong links these communities kept with their homeland In this updated edition of her book Margaret Bennett traces the historical background of emigration and settlement in this part of Canada By means of recorded interviews with descendants of the original settlers she builds up a detailed picture not only of the social and religious aspects of their lives but also of how they set about building a new community in the wilderness For more than a century people in the Outer Hebrides have been asking what happened to those who left for the New World Oatmeal and the Catechism answers that question BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved
