Burger King Satisfries:

We the Eaters Ellen Gustafson, 2014-05-20 The implausible truth Over one billion people in the world are hungry and over one billion are overweight Far from complete opposites hunger and obesity are in fact different manifestations of the same problem It s increasingly difficult to find and eat nutritious food By examining the global industrial food system using the deceptively simple template of a classic American dinner We the Eaters not only outlines the root causes of this bizarre and troubling dichotomy but also provides a blueprint of actionable solutions solutions that could start with changing out just a single item on your plate From your burger to your soda Gustafson unpacks how even the hyperlocal can cause worldwide ripples For instance American agricultural policy promoting corn and soybeans in beef farming means we feed more to cows than to hungry people This is compounded by the environmental cost of factory livestock farming rising obesity rates and the false economics of unhealthfully high meat consumption The answer Eat a hamburger just make it a smaller sustainably raised grass fed one Gustafson a young entrepreneur foreign policy expert and food policy advocate delivers a wake up call that will inspire even the most passive reader to take action We can love our food and our country while being better stewards of our system and our health We the Eaters is nothing short of a manifesto If we change dinner we really can change the world

A World Made for Money Bret Wallach, 2015-05 A spirited and incisive survey of economic geography A World Made for Money begins with the author stopped at a red light in Norman Oklahoma Observing the landscape of drugstores and banks and for that matter the stoplight and roads themselves Bret Wallach observes Everything I see has been built to make money or at the very least to facilitate making money This he argues is a global phenomenon that nonetheless has occurred only within the past hundred years or so Although guidebooks and culture brokers often disparage these landscapes of commerce Wallach recipient of a MacArthur genius grant argues that we would do well to pay them close attention A World Made for Money provides a compelling condensed tour of our world From Silicon Valley to Sri Lanka from post Soviet Russia to post apartheid South Africa Wallach looks at how human beings are buying manufacturing working growing and shipping food and accessing the natural resources to fuel it all These essential facets of daily life propelled by the profit motive represent a transnational force shaping our surroundings and environment in ways that may not always be beautiful or even healthy but that are fundamental to understanding how the world works in the twenty first century Wallach examines the relationship between acquisitiveness and landscape reveals surprising contradictions and nuances and provides fresh perspective on politically charged topics such as sprawl deindustrialization and agribusiness
