Assessing Older Persons Measures Meaning And Practical Applications:

Assessing Older Persons Robert L. Kane, Rosalie A. Kane, 2000 This is a unique text and reference on the multidimensional assessment of older persons. It combines detailed accounts of measures for a wide range of functions with discussions of their applications in the care of older persons. The effort throughout is to combine information on specific measures with insight into how and when each measure should be used. Assessing Older Persons Marilyn Eells, 2004

The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Geropsychology Nancy A. Pachana, Ken Laidlaw, 2014-11-07 Throughout the world the population of older adults continues to grow. The rise in geriatric populations has seen an increase in research on clinical diagnostic assessment and treatment issues aimed at this population. Clinical geropsychologists have increased their interest both in providing mental health services as well as developing approaches to improve quality of life for all older adults. The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Geropsychology is a landmark publication in this field providing broad and authoritative coverage of the research and practice issues in clinical geropsychology today as well as innovations expanding the field's horizons. Comprising chapters from the foremost scholars in clinical geropsychology from around the world, the handbook captures the global proliferation of activity in this field. In addition to core sections on topics such as sources of psychological distress, assessment, diagnosis, and intervention, the handbook includes valuable chapters devoted to methodological issues such as longitudinal studies and meta-analyses in the field as well as new and emerging issues such as technological innovations and social media use in older populations. Each chapter offers a review of the most pertinent international literature, outlining current issues as well as important cultural implications and key practice issues where relevant and identifying possibilities for future research and policy applications. The book is essential to all psychology researchers, practitioners, educators, and students with an interest in the mental health of older adults. In addition, health professionals including psychiatrists, social workers, mental health nurses, and trainee geriatric mental health workers will find this an invaluable resource. Older adults comprise a growing percentage of the population worldwide. Clinical psychologists with an interest in older populations have increased the amount of research and applied knowledge about effectively improving mental health later in life, and this book captures that information on an international level. The book addresses how to diagnose, assess, and treat mental illness in older persons as well as ways to improve quality of life in all older persons. It has a great breadth of coverage of the area, including chapters spanning how research is conducted to how new technologies such as virtual reality and social media are used with older people to improve mental health. The book would appeal to all psychology researchers, practitioners, educators, and students with an interest in the mental health of older adults. It would also appeal to other health professionals including psychiatrists, social workers, and mental health nurses who work with older people. It is a valuable resource for trainee geriatric mental health workers because it highlights key readings and important practice implications in the field. Assessments, Treatments and Modeling in Aging and Neurological Disease Colin of being a caregiver to older relatives or friends and mentions several programs made available for caregivers through social services. Older People and Their Caregivers Across the Spectrum of Care reviews assessment techniques and practice models that address issues such as abuse and HIV/AIDS care. This book also provides information about currently overlooked issues that will increasingly affect assessment and intervention, including diversity in cultural or religious beliefs and sexual orientation. This book is also unique in its focus on those unsung unpaid heroes: relatives and friends who assist elderly companions with their financial, social, and physical daily needs. With Older People and Their Caregivers Across the Spectrum of Care, you will find vital information on two elderly victims' services: one involving social services and the other involving criminal action; the challenges of assessing older adults with HIV/AIDS; the pros and cons of long-distance caregiving; a life-course assessment/intervention model used at military colleges to help officers prepare proactively for parent care; the Caregivers and Professionals Partnership (CAPP), which employs innovative outreach strategies to family caregivers of adults; the Northport VA Friendly Companion Program, which enhances opportunities for interpersonal interaction; African American caregivers and their experiences with African American elders; Social workers and caregivers will find the information in this book vital in their work. Generously enhanced with tables, charts, case studies, references, and personal vignettes, Older People and Their Caregivers Across the Spectrum of Care will help you improve quality of life for the older adults of today and tomorrow.

Supporting People with Dementia at Home David Challis, Caroline Sutcliffe, Jane Hughes, Richard von Abendorff, Pamela Brown, John Chesterman, 2016-04-01. Supporting People with Dementia at Home details a groundbreaking study of an intensive care management scheme designed for older people with dementia that are at risk of entry into residential care. The authors use a quasi-experimental approach to compare how the individuals on the mental health team in one community were matched to a similar community without the service. They analyze the evidence focusing on the eventual placement of the individual, suffering the quality of care they receive, and also the needs of their carers. This book offers valuable evidence about the factors which can maximize the independence and well-being of older people with dementia from the perspective of older people and their carers. For those who commission services, it is highly relevant to service models for the National Dementia Strategy in England.
