surface into atmosphere and geosphere Subsurface hydrological responses to land cover and land use changes have drawn only regional environmental concerns although global change caused by biosphere change has been studied in various scientific fields The changes in land cover and land use alter water solute and heat cycles in basins and elements of those balances including evapotranspiration groundwater recharge rate discharge rates into rivers or ocean and soil moisture content which are directly or indirectly related to the global environmental issues Therefore the changes in biosphere may substantially alter the subsurface hydrological system For instance increased groundwater recharge rates following clearing forest into grasses might be one consequence resulting in rising water tables and salinization
