Infant and Toddler Experiences Fran Hast, Ann Hollyfield, 2002-06-10 What is the difference between an activity and an experience? One is meant to pass the time; the other is meant to last a lifetime. Make the most of your interactions with young children with experiences that allow infants and toddlers to figure out how something works on their own. This book describes a process of learning that involves repeated interaction with and exploration of a caring environment which builds trust between children and you. Each experience offers children the chance to choose their own approaches to tasks that promote their development. Focusing on the Three Cs: curiosity, connection, and coordination, each experience is described simply and includes a list of materials that are needed and tips to keep in mind. In addition, each experience includes specific strategies to help you promote the healthiest development in infants and toddlers.

Focus on Toddlers Jennifer Karnopp, 2012 This is a beginner's primer to providing professional child care for toddlers, two-year-olds. The elements of a quality learning environment are not the same for every age. The toddler years are unique, and what works for preschoolers does not always work with toddlers. Complete with tips for creating a developmentally appropriate environment and experiences that stimulate muscles and minds, Focus on Toddlers gives caregivers the tools to craft a quality learning environment that is as unique as the needs of the children in their care. In simple language, Focus on Toddlers explains how to structure a program where toddlers and two-year-olds can learn, play, and thrive.

Lived Spaces of Infant-Toddler Education and Care Linda J. Harrison, Jennifer Sumsion, 2014-05-05 This book conceptualizes the lived spaces of infant and toddler early education and care settings by bringing together international authors researching within diverse theoretical frameworks. It highlights diverse ways of understanding the experiences of very young children by exposing the ways that the authors are grappling with the unknown. The work explores broadly the construct and meanings of lived spaces as relational spaces, interactional spaces, transitional spaces, curriculum spaces, or pedagogical spaces operating within the social, physical, and temporal environment of infant/toddler education settings. The book invites interchange between and among diverse theories and approaches and through this build new understanding of infants and toddlers' experiences and interactions in early education and care settings. It also considers the implications of this work for policy and practice in infant and toddler education and care.
