Diversity and Aging Among Immigrant Seniors in Canada Douglas Durst, Michael MacLean, 2010-01-01 Historically Canada has been a nation of immigrants with 16 20% of its citizens being foreign born Most immigrant research addresses the issues of integration and adjustment of young and adult immigrants with little work on aging There are numerous books on immigrants and books on aging but there are few that have considered the topics of both diversity and aging Diversity and Aging among Immigrant Seniors in Canada breaks from that tradition and offers an eclectic collection of original research from among Canada s leading researchers on aging and immigrants Some researchers refer to this emerging field as Ethno gerontology There are two interesting groups of immigrant seniors those who entered Canada at over 65 years of age and those who aged in Canada Most Canadians are surprised to learn that the senior population of seniors has a higher percentage of immigrants 19 6% than the general population 13 7% As Canadians age the country s composition of immigrant seniors has also changed from mainly European to greater cultural and ethnic diversity from Africa and Asia This cultural and ethnic diversity has social health economic policy implications and impacts on programs and services delivered to seniors Diversity and Aging among Immigrant Seniors in Canada is divided into two main sections In Part 1 the chapters explore general and universal issues such as national trends and demographics theoretical orientations issues of culture and legal dimensions poverty and income and end of life

care In Part 2 the chapters examine issues pertaining to specific ethnic groups For example there are chapters on the social well being of Chinese immigrants determinants of mental health for Iranian seniors family dynamics for aging Haitian elders and emerging issues for Punjabi families Diversity and Aging among Immigrant Seniors in Canada offers both breadth and depth to the topic of aging among immigrants and is a must read for social work and health care professionals students in health and social services policy and program planners and families of aging immigrants It is written in a language that crosses disciplines shedding professional jargon making it an informative and engaging read for professionals researchers and the general public

Aging and Diversity Ph.D. Chandra Mehrotra,Lisa Smith Wagner,2018-09-03 As the older population in the United States is becoming more racially and ethnically diverse it is important to understand the characteristics the potential and the needs of this population In this new and fully revised edition of Aging and Diversity Chandra Mehrotra and Lisa Wagner address key topics in diversity and aging discussing how the aging experience is affected by not only race and ethnicity but also gender religious affiliation social class rural urban community location and sexual orientation and gender identity Taking this broad view of human diversity allows the authors to convey some of the rich complexities facing our aging population complexities that provide both challenges to meet the needs of a diverse population of elders and opportunities to learn how to live in a pluralistic society Mehrotra and Wagner present up to date knowledge and scholarship about aging and diversity in a way that engages readers in active learning placing ongoing emphasis on developing readers knowledge and skills fostering higher order thinking and encouraging exploration of personal values and attitudes

Aging and Diversity Lisa Wagner,Chandra M Mehrotra,Man Guo,2025-09-22 Aging and diversity intersect in important ways as individuals from different backgrounds experience aging through distinct lenses shaped by traditions values and beliefs As the older population in the United States is becoming more diverse it is important to understand the characteristics the potential and the needs of this population In this new and fully revised edition of Aging and Diversity Lisa S Wagner Chandra Mehrotra and Man Guo address key topics in diversity and aging discussing how the aging experience is affected by not only race and ethnicity but also gender religious affiliation socioeconomic status rural urban community location and sexual orientation and gender identity Taking this broad view of human diversity allows the authors to convey some of the rich complexities facing aging populations complexities that provide both challenges to meet the needs of a diverse population of elders and opportunities to learn how to live in a pluralistic society Wagner Mehrotra and Guo present up to date knowledge and scholarship about aging and diversity in a way that engages readers in active learning placing ongoing emphasis on developing readers knowledge and skills fostering higher order thinking and encouraging exploration of personal values and attitudes

Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging Barbara Berkman,2006-02-09 The Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging is the first reference to combine the fields of health care aging and social work in a single authoritative volume These areas are too often treated as discrete entities while the reality is that all social workers deal with issues in health and aging on a daily basis regardless of practice specialization As the baby boomers age the impact on practice in health and aging will be dramatic and social workers need more specialized knowledge about aging health care and the resources available to best serve older adults and their families The volume s 102 original chapters and 13 overviews written by the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars in the United States and across the world provide social work practitioners and educators with up to date knowledge of evidence based practice guidelines for effectively assessing and treating older adults and their families new models for intervention in both community based practice and institutional care and knowledge of significant policy and research issues in health and aging A truly monumental resource this handbook represents the best research on health and aging available to social workers today

Handbook of LGBT Elders Debra A. Harley, Pamela B. Teaster, 2015-08-05 This groundbreaking resource presents a wealth of findings and perspectives previously unseen in the LGBT literature Its focus on psychological sociopolitical and care delivery issues affecting LGBT elders reveals both the nuanced interplay between diverse sources of identity and multiple sources of stigma and discrimination Specific chapters highlight challenges and resiliencies impacting subpopulations e g racial groups veterans immigrants examine employment and advocacy issues discuss later life concerns in context and offer guidelines for relevant ethical practice Contributors represent a wide range of fields from psychiatry and gerontology to public health and public policy reflecting the scope and needs of this diverse and complex population Among the topics in the Handbook Family relationships of older LGBT adults The intersection of identities race age sexuality and care network Bisexuality an invisible community among LGBT elders Implications of the Supreme Court ruling on same sex marriage No money no work and you re old Disabilities among LGBT elders responses of medicine public health rehabilitation and social work Handbook of LGBT Elders is an essential reference for mental health professionals psychologists and social workers who work with the LGBT community and the elderly as well as researchers interested in the LGBT community and aging

Issues in Aging Mark Novak, 2018-02-02 Issues in Aging combines social psychological biological and philosophical perspectives to present a multifaceted picture of aging Novak illustrates both the problems and the opportunities that accompany older age This text helps students understand the tremendous variability in aging and introduces them to careers working with older adults This new edition reflects the continued changes in the way we age The fourth edition has been updated to include emerging issues in aging These include the prevalence of HIV AIDs in later life current research on mental potential in old age the creation of age friendly cities and new options for end of life care Each chapter begins with a set of learning objectives to guide students in their reading and concludes with a list of main points questions for discussion or study suggested readings and relevant web sites to consult Each chapter also includes up to date charts and graphs as well as key terms to help students understand the issues presented Break out boxes reveal the human side of aging through the stories of individuals in real life and in the media

Productive Aging Marilyn B. Cole, Karen

Crane Macdonald, 2024-06-01 Productive Aging An Occupational Perspective is a concise and practical text that takes a fresh look at our rapidly expanding and diverse older population. Recognizing the unique identity of each older person, this text provides client-centered guidelines for maximizing function, independence, and wellness. Productive Aging also outlines self-management strategies for promoting participation and engagement in productive occupations for the older persons' own continuing development, health, and well-being. Productive Aging not only summarizes current evidence but it looks into the lives of forty productive agers who shared their personal perspective with the authors as part of an original qualitative study. These participant stories, often told in the participants' own words, describe how current theories of aging are applied in the lives of older adults who are currently living the experience. Older adults ages 60 to 98 describe the effective strategies they used to manage their own aging process, to structure healthy lifestyles and social connections, and to intentionally direct their own productive occupations in satisfying and meaningful ways. The results of this qualitative research study have led to a grounded theory of Conditional Independence, which guides occupational therapy approaches to productive aging in practice. Authors Marilyn B. Cole and Dr. Karen C. Macdonald explore the six productive occupations that researchers have identified as typical of older adults today: self-management, home management, volunteering, paid work, care giving, and lifelong learning. In addition to summarizing current research and theories within each occupation, concrete strategies and techniques relative to these roles are detailed with multiple examples, case studies, and learning activities. Throughout Productive Aging, interviews with experienced practitioners, administrators, and educators reveal some of the implications of various trends and techniques. For occupational therapists, descriptions of settings and types of intervention are consistent with the latest version of AOTA's Occupational Therapy Practice Framework, Third Edition. In addition to promoting productive occupations within traditional institutional and medical-based practice, occupational therapy roles include that of consultant, educator, and advocate when treating individuals, groups, and populations in home care, organizational, and community settings. Special attention is given to developing the ability to become an effective self-manager, facilitating social participation, and maximizing clients' applied functional abilities. Productive Aging An Occupational Perspective is the perfect addition to the bookshelf of occupational therapy students, faculty, and clinicians, as well as any health care practitioner who would like to update his or her knowledge of the aging individual within his or her current practice settings.
