Human Error. Aircraft Accident Analysis Facundo Conforti, Human error is one of the primary causal factors in aviation accidents This variable is present across all sectors involved in flight operations encompassing not only flight crew and operational personnel but also ground staff maintenance crews administrative personnel and anyone else who might be engaged in flight activities Humans make errors continuously both in personal and professional realms While it is impossible to eradicate errors entirely as making mistakes is inherent to human nature it is feasible to implement corrective actions to mitigate their effects and reduce the error margin that could potentially lead to an accident In this work we will meticulously examine numerous aviation accidents where human error has been the triggering factor leading to catastrophe A detailed analysis of each accident will be conducted based on official reports from various aviation accident investigation authorities

Aircraft Accident and Incident Notification, Investigation, and Reporting United States. Federal Aviation Administration, 1976 Aircraft Accident Report United States. National Transportation Safety Board, 2000 On August 6 1997 about 0142 26 Guam local time Korean Air flight 801 a Boeing 747 3B5B 747 300 Korean registration 11L7468 operated by Korean Air Company Ltd crashed at Nimitz Hill Guam Flight 801 departed from Kimpo International Airport Seoul Korea with 2 pilots 1 flight engineer 14 flight attendants and 237 passengers on board The airplane had been cleared to land on runway 6 Left at A B Won Guam International Airport Agana Guam and crashed into high terrain about 3 miles southwest of the airport Of the 254 persons on board 228 were killed and 23 passengers and 3 flight attendants survived the accident with serious injuries The airplane was destroyed by impact forces and a postcrash fire Flight 801 was operating in U S airspace as a regularly scheduled international passenger service flight under the Convention on International Civil Aviation and the provisions of 14 Code of Federal Regulations Part 129 and was on an instrument flight rules flight plan The National Transportation Safety Board determines that the probable cause of the Korean Air flight 801 accident was the captain s failure to adequately brief and execute the nonprecision approach and the first officer s and flight engineer s failure to effectively monitor and cross check the captain s execution of the approach Contributing to these failures were the captain s fatigue and Korean Air s inadequate flight crew training Contributing to the accident was the Federal Aviation Administration s FAA intentional inhibition of the minimum safe altitude warning system MSAW at Guam and the agency s failure to adequately manage the system The safety issues in this report focus on flight crew performance approach procedures and pilot training air traffic control including controller performance and the intentional inhibition of the MSAW system at Guam emergency response the adequacy of Korean Civil Aviation Bureau KCAB and FAA over

Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1995 Aircraft Accident Notification Procedures and Bureau Responsibilities United States. Federal Aviation Agency,1959 ERDA Energy Research Abstracts United States. Energy Research and Development Administration,1977 The Limits of Expertise R. Key Dismukes,Benjamin A. Berman,Loukia Loukopoulos,2017-03-02 Why would highly skilled well trained pilots make errors that lead to accidents when they had safely completed many thousands of previous flights The majority of all aviation accidents are attributed primarily to human error but this is often misinterpreted as evidence of lack of skill vigilance or conscientiousness of the pilots The Limits of Expertise is a fresh look at the causes of pilot error and aviation accidents arguing that accidents can be understood only in the context of how the overall aviation system operates The authors analyzed in great depth the 19 major U S airline accidents from 1991 2000 in which the National Transportation Safety Board NTSB found crew error to be a causal factor Each accident is reviewed in a separate chapter that examines events and crew actions and explores the cognitive processes in play at each step The approach is guided by extensive evidence from cognitive psychology that human skill and error are opposite sides of the same coin The book examines the ways in which competing task demands ambiguity and organizational pressures interact with cognitive processes to make all experts vulnerable to characteristic forms of error The final chapter identifies themes cutting across the accidents discusses the role of chance criticizes simplistic concepts of causality of accidents and suggests ways to reduce vulnerability to these catastrophes The authors complementary experience allowed a unique approach to the study accident investigation with the NTSB cognitive psychology research both in the lab and in the field enormous first hand experience of piloting and application of aviation psychology in both civil and military operations This combination allowed the authors to examine and explain the domain specific aspects of aviation operations and to extend

advances in basic research in cognition to complex issues of human performance in the real world Although The Limits of Expertise is directed to aviation operations the implications are clear for understanding the decision processes skilled performance and errors of professionals in many domains including medicine
