Environmental Peacemaking Ken Conca, Geoffrey D. Dabelko, 2002-11-13 Eight contributions written by professors of political science government and politics as well as researchers and program directors for environmental change energy and security projects provide insight into the process of environmental peacemaking based on their experiences in a variety of international regions An initial chapter makes a case for the process successive chapters address the Baltic South Asia the Aral Sea basin southern Africa the Caspian Sea and the US Mexican border Annotation c 2003 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com

Conflict and the Environment N.P. Gleditsch, 1997-09-30 The end of the Cold War has opened up the arena for increased attention to other lines of conflict both in Europe and globally Environmental disruption by no means a new phenomenon is a chief beneficiary of the shift in priorities in the public debate The Scientific and Environmental Affairs Division of NATO has moved with the times and has defined environmental security as one of the priority areas for its cooperation with Central and Eastern Europe and countries of the former Soviet Union Research on these issues is now thus very much a collaborative effort across former lines of division in Europe The Introduction by Sverre Stub sets the tone Our Future Common or None at All The book reveals the very real risks associated with environmental degradation whether of the land waters or the oceans and charts out previous disputes and points to the very real danger of violent conflict associated with the drying up of natural resources The book ends with a section on Responses which seeks to provide answers to the threats discussed in the preceding sections

Diaspora and Citizenship Claire Sutherland, Elena Barabantseva, 2013-09-13 This collection of papers discusses the impact of diasporas on the articulations and practices of legal political cultural and social citizenship in their country of origin While the majority of current citizenship debates focus on the challenges and directions in which diasporic and migrant communities impact on the citizenship regime in their country of settlement the papers in this volume approach the study of citizenship from the perspective of the link between the sending state and its diasporic communities abroad The papers discuss the role of language religion kinship and other ethnic markers in diaspora politics and trace their implications for the articulations and practices of citizenship Through discussing cases across political and geographical spectrums and from different historical epochs the book broadens and enriches the debate on citizenship by demonstrating important ways in which diasporas impact on the delineation of citizenship regimes and the politics of national identity in their homeland This links to the continued use of language as an ethnic marker but also one which may be learned allowing a certain degree of choice and shifting affiliations amongst putative members of a diaspora This book was published as a special issue of Nationalism and Ethnic Politics

The UN Watercourses Convention in Force Flavia Rocha Loures, Alistair Rieu-Clarke, 2013-09-11 At the UN General Assembly in 1997 an overwhelming majority of States voted for the adoption of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Non Navigational Uses of International Watercourses a global overarching framework governing the rights and duties of States

sharing freshwater systems Globally there are 263 internationally shared watersheds which drain the territories of 145 countries and represent more than forty percent of the Earth's land surface Hence inter State cooperation towards the sustainable management of transboundary water supplies in accordance with applicable international legal instruments is a topic of crucial importance especially in the context of the current global water crisis This volume provides an assessment of the role and relevance of the UN Watercourses Convention and describes and evaluates its entry into force as a key component of transboundary water governance To date the Convention still requires further contracting States before it can enter into force The authors describe the drafting and negotiation of the Convention and its relationship to other multilateral environmental agreements A series of case studies assess the role of the Convention at various levels regional European Union East Africa West Africa Central Asia Central America and South America river basin e g the Mekong and Congo and national e g Ethiopia and Mexico The book concludes by proposing how future implementation might further strengthen international cooperation in the management of water resources to promote biodiversity conservation as well as sustainable and equitable use

Conflict Management of Water Resources Manas Chatterji, Saul Arlosoroff, Gauri Guha, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2002 Now that the Cold War is over ethnic and regional conflicts are emerging over resources and the environment The management of water the lifeblood of any country is becoming a vital issue This volume offers a study of conflict management of water resources It includes some selected papers presented at an international meeting held at the Mahatma Gandhi Center of Conflict Prevention and Management in Ahmedabad India Other invited papers have also been included in the collection Obviously it was not possible to address here all aspects of the vast field of water management The main focus of this work is the management of water conflict and its implications for peace

Islam And Violent Separatism Ashok Swain, 2014-06-03 First published in 2007 Political demands for autonomy and independence by radicalized ethnic groups have recently intensified as a result of the globalization of the post Cold War world In addition to facing the challenges posed by democratization development and social movements governments everywhere are striving to manage and contain political Islam This is particularly true in Southeast Asia where the violence and instability caused by Islamic radical groups have affected the consolidation of liberal democracy in the region This volume examines the roles of the state and of civil society in three of the new democracies in Southeast Asia the Philippines Thailand and Indonesia Focussing on the way these democracies address the increased threat posed to their nation building projects by political Islam Islam and Violent Separatism makes an important contribution to the understanding of new security risks terrorism democratic consolidation and contemporary Southeast Asian politics

The Oxford Handbook of Peaceful Change in International Relations T. V. Paul, Deborah Welch Larson, Harold A. Trinkunas, Anders Wivel, Ralf Emmers, 2021 Abstract With the rapid rise of China and the relative decline of the United States the topic of power transition conflicts is back in popular and scholarly attention The discipline of International Relations offers much on why violent power transition conflicts occur

yet very few substantive treatments exist on why and how peaceful changes happen in world politics This Handbook is the first comprehensive treatment of the subject of peaceful change in International Relations It contains some 41 chapters all written by scholars from different theoretical and conceptual backgrounds examining the multi faceted dimensions of this subject In the first part key conceptual and definitional clarifications are offered and in the second part papers address the historical origins of peaceful change as an International Relations subject matter during the Inter War Cold War and Post Cold War eras In the third part each of the IR theoretical traditions and paradigms in particular Realism liberalism constructivism and critical perspectives and their distinct views on peaceful change are analyzed In the fourth part papers tackle the key material ideational and social sources of change In the fifth part the papers explore selected great and middle powers and their foreign policy contributions to peaceful change realizing that many of these states have violent past or tend not to pursue peaceful policies consistently In part six the contributors evaluate the peaceful change that occurred in the world s key regions In the final part the editors address prospective research agenda and trajectories on this important subject matter

Imagining Indus Zafar Adeel, Robert G. Wirsing, 2016-10-20 This volume calls upon over a dozen Indus observers to imagine a scenario for the Indus basin in which transboundary cooperation over water resources overcomes the insecurity arising from water dependence and scarcity From diverse perspectives its essays examine the potential benefits to be gained from revisiting the 1960 Indus Waters Treaty as well as from mounting joint efforts to increase water supply to combat climate change to develop hydroelectric power and to improve water management The Indus basin is shared by four countries Afghanistan China India and Pakistan The basin s significance stems in part simply from the importance of these countries three of them among the planet s most populous states one of them boasting the world s second largest economy and three of them members of the exclusive nuclear weapons club However the basin s significance stems also from the great importance of the Indus waters themselves due especially to the region s massive dependence on irrigated agriculture as well as to the menace of climate change and advancing water scarcity The Indus this volume imagines is a definite departure from business as usual responses to the Indus basin s emerging fresh water crisis The objective is to kindle serious discussion of the cooperation needed to confront what many water experts believe is developing into one of the planet s most gravely threatened river basins It is thus both assessment of the current state of play in regard to water security in the Indus basin and recommendation about where to go from here

Kurdish Art and Identity Alireza Korangy, 2020-09-07 Folklore has been a phenomenon based on nostalgic and autochthonous nuances conveyed with a story telling technique with a penchant for over playing and nationalistic pomp and circumstance often with significant consequences for societal poetic and cultural areas These papers highlight challenges that have an outreaching relationship to the regional rhetorical and trans rhetorical devices and manners in

Kurdish folklore which subscribes to an ironic sense of hope all the while issuing an appeal for a largely unaccomplished nationhood simultaneously insisting on a linguistic solidarity In a folkloric literature that has an overarching theory of poetics perhaps even trans figurative cognitive poetics due to the multi faceted nature of its application and the complexity of its linguistic structure the relationship of man and less frequently woman with others takes center stage in many of the folkloric creations Arts are not figurative representations of the real in the Kurdish world they are the real Warfare Ecology Gary E. Machlis,Thor Hanson,Zdravko Špirić,Jean E. McKendry,2011-06-06 The purpose of this book is specific and ambitious to outline the distinctive elements scope and usefulness of a new and emerging field of applied ecology named warfare ecology Based on a NATO Advanced Research Workshop held on the island of Vieques Puerto Rico the book provides both a theoretical overview of this new field and case studies that range from mercury contamination during World War I in Slovenia to the ecosystem impacts of the Palestinian occupation and from the bombing of coral reefs of Vieques to biodiversity loss due to violent conflicts in Africa Warfare Ecology also includes reprints of several classical papers that set the stage for the new synthesis described by the authors Written for environmental scientists military and humanitarian relief professionals conservation managers and graduate students in a wide range of fields Warfare Ecology is a major step forward in understanding the relationship between war and ecological systems
