Musical score for "The Rose Tree" in G major, 3/4 time. The score is written for a single melodic line on a treble clef staff. It consists of 34 measures, divided into four systems of eight measures each. The key signature has one sharp (F#), and the time signature is 3/4. The tempo is marked "moderato". The score includes various musical notations such as triplets, slurs, and dynamic markings. The dynamics are: mp espress. (measures 1-8), mp (measures 9-16), mf (measures 17-24), and f (measures 25-34). The score also includes performance instructions: "rall." (measures 25-28) and "slower" (measures 29-34). The piece ends with a double bar line.

American folk musician and composer Jay Ungar composed Ashokan Farewell in 1962, when he said he 'was feeling a great sense of loss and longing for the music, the dancing and the community of people that had developed' during that summer's Ashokan Fiddle & Dance Camp. The intense sadness he felt at having to return to the city after time in nature, surrounded by people who 'needed little excuse to celebrate the joy of living', is poignantly expressed through this simple tune, which Ungar says he 'had no idea ... could affect others in the same way'. The ornaments in this arrangement, which fit just before the beat, are characteristic of the music's folk roots.
