

Barista Training

Great baristas are worth their weight in gold... coffee. Now's your time to shine!

Lots of people know how to operate a coffee machine, but only a select few can make great coffee. And those people are in hot demand! Here's where you lay the foundations to become one of the elite, under the supportive guidance of one of New Zealand's best.

Course Description

This course will set you up with amazing barista skills for life. Learn the vocab as you practice on our professional espresso machines, discovering it's not as easy as it looks, but mastering the technique by the end.

What you'll learn

First, we'll show you how to operate a coffee machine. That's the easy bit. Then we'll show you how to make it sing. That's the fun part!

We'll show you how to texture milk for a silky-smooth coffee. How to grind the perfect coffee beans, every time. How to create the perfect crema. And, above all, how to have people coming back for more day after day.

What you'll be able to do with this training

You'll be ready to tackle a professional barista role with a skill that's in demand all over the world. If professional barista-ing isn't for you, you'll be ready to wow your friends, family and colleagues with your coffee making skills!

Topics

- Texture milk
- Grind the perfect coffee beans
- Extract a silky shot
- Make a great espresso

Barista Training Manual For International Students:

Classify and Label Matt L. Drabek, 2014-10-15 Classify and Label The Unintended Marginalization of Social Groups is a philosophical treatment of classification in the social sciences and everyday life focusing on moral social and political implications The use of labels is essential to how people navigate and understand the world Classifications and labels also have a dark side as they may unintentionally misrepresent groups and individuals These misrepresentations disrupt how people think about themselves and how they treat others sometimes leading to marginalization Matt L Drabek analyzes classification by considering rich case studies across a variety of domains including the classification of gender and sexual orientation the psychiatric classification of sadomasochism and gender disorders and the classification of people in everyday life through the production of pornography and use of gender identities This broad sample reveals deep connections between the classifications proposed by social scientists and the classifications used by society at large Drabek explores how classifications evolve from and eventually affect such seemingly disconnected issues as the situation of under represented groups in academia new models of parenting and the family the nature of sexual orientation and the nature of scientific bias

Maria-Carmen Pantea,2018-12-19 This book explores how the changing nature of work intersects with and influences young people's views on their future As an increasingly precarious service sector overtakes traditional industrial work vocational education and training VET is held up as a panacea for poverty alleviation youth unemployment and economic growth However the views of young people in VET themselves concerning their own work and aspirations have largely been ignored Based on interviews and focus groups conducted with over 250 young people in VET in Romania this book examines the types of subjectivities that are generated in the processes by which they try to make sense of future and the meanings of work In doing so the author identifies three ideological layers that frame their views arguing that while the young people interviewed hold conventional aspirations for stability and predictability they were visibly influenced by neoliberal beliefs in agency experimentation and short termism Ultimately a layer of low expectations crystallises unvoiced concerns over a troubling future In highlighting young people's voices this pioneering book calls for a recalibration of the emphasis on VET in Romania It will appeal to students and scholars of youth studies the sociology of work vocational education and training and European studies

Global Brooklyn Fabio Parasecoli,Mateusz Halawa,2021-01-14 What do the fashionable food hot spots of Cape Town Mumbai Copenhagen Rio de Janeiro and Tel Aviv have in common Despite all their differences consumers in each major city are drawn to a similar atmosphere rough wooden tables in postindustrial interiors lit by edison bulbs There they enjoy single origin coffee kombucha and artisanal bread This is Global Brooklyn a new transnational aesthetic regime of urban consumption It may look shabby and improvised but it is all carefully designed It may romance the analog but is made to be Instagrammed It often references the New York borough but is shaped by many networked locations where consumers participate in the global circulation of styles flavors practices and values This book follows this phenomenon across different world cities arguing for a stronger appreciation of design and materialities in understanding food cultures Attentive to local contexts struggles and identities contributors explore the global mobility of aesthetic ethical and entrepreneurial projects and how they materialize in everyday practices on the ground They describe new connections among eating drinking design and communication in order to give a clearer sense of the contemporary transformations of food cultures around the world

Introducing Story-Strategic Methods Robert Strauss,2017-03-17 The purpose of Introducing Story Strategic Methods is to awaken us in the cross cultural context Our natural tendency is to be asleep to our own cultural values and core worldview assumptions This tendency applies as well to our expectations in the cross cultural context For example in what ways would a justice pattern of culture orient our speech and behavior To what degree is a justice pattern of culture different from an honor pattern of culture The book asserts that culture matters in effective communication Going further to what degree does a story told from the Bible nullify the power of culture Often we assume that the biblical story trumps culture It does not The book affirms rigorously that culture is much more powerful than we first suppose If in fact culture trumps the biblical story Therefore understanding and skills are required for effective engagement across cultures Strategic storytelling is a twelve step methodology that addresses the problems of miscommunication and syncretism that plague the cross cultural context It offers a step by step solution that promises success Insights are firmly rooted in Scripture and equally grounded in empirical research from the social sciences The stories told throughout the book are true The answers are compelling
