Agnès Varda Cuba:

Agnès Varda Kelley Conway, 2015-11-15 Both a precursor to and a critical member of the French New Wave Agnès Varda weaves documentary and fiction into tapestries that portray distinctive places and complex human beings Critics and aficionados have celebrated Varda's independence and originality since the New Wave touchstone Cleo from 5 to 7 1962 brought her a level of international acclaim she has yet to relinquish Film historian Kelley Conway traces Varda's works from her 1954 debut La Pointe Courte through a varied career that includes nonfiction and fiction shorts and features installation art and the triumphant 2008 documentary The Beaches of Agnès Drawing on Varda's archives and conversations with the filmmaker Conway focuses on the concrete details of how Varda makes films a project's emergence its development and the shifting forms of its screenplay the search for financing and the execution from casting through editing and exhibition In the process she departs from film history's traditional view of the French New Wave and reveals one artist's nontraditional trajectory through independent filmmaking The result is an intimate consideration that reveals the artistic consistencies and bold changes in the career of one of the world's most exuberant and intriguing directors The Cinema of Agnès Varda Delphine Benezet, 2014-05-20 Agnès Varda a pioneer of the French New Wave has been making radical films for over half a century Many of these are considered by scholars filmmakers and audiences alike as audacious seminal and unforgettable This volume considers her production as a whole revisiting overlooked films like Mur Murs Documenteur 1980-81 and connecting her cinema to recent installation work This study demonstrates how Varda has resisted norms of representation and dictates of production It also shows how she has elaborated a personal repertoire of images characters and settings which all provide insight on their cultural and political contexts The book thus offers new readings of this director's multifaceted résumé arguing that her work should be seen as an aesthetically influential and ethically driven production where cinema is both a political and collaborative practice and a synesthetic art form Agnès Varda Between Film, Photography, and Art Rebecca J. DeRoo, 2018 Proceeding chronologically from the beginning of Varda's career in the 1950s to the present this book focuses on moments where Varda's invocation of different artistic traditions within film opens onto complex commentary on broader aesthetic theoretical feminist and political discussions I reinterpret some of her best known films but also focus attention on other less familiar works that merit further consideration I reassess individual works with the goal of interrogating Varda's visual dialogues to reconstruct the cultural politics of the periods in which they were made This process of reading new strands of meaning across Varda's oeuvre relies on a richly interdisciplinary approach The result is a new cultural history of Varda and her work that makes clear how she actively engaged and subtly broadened some of the most advanced aesthetic and political discourse of her day Many of Varda's sophisticated commentaries on controversial issues of her time have receded from view in the biographical frameworks in which her work often has been considered The range of her engagement in her work with cinema art history photography and visual culture has not been fully recognized

This decontextualization of Varda's work has been compounded by the frequent emphasis on her exceptionality within her fields of practice. In contrast, I view Varda's work as a projection of cultural history that illuminates multiple disciplines including art history, cinema studies, visual culture, and modern French history. Provided by publisher Agnès Varda, Agnès Varda, 2014. Collected interviews with the French filmmaker who is sometimes called the Mother of the New Wave. A Medium Seen Otherwise Roger Hallas, 2023. Through a new look at how political, historical, and art documentaries engage with photographic images, objects, and archives, A Medium Seen Otherwise argues that film allows us to better understand what people do with analog and digital photographs as material objects that enable social and political relations through multisensory experience. Moreover, as a time-based medium with sound, film can bring the event of photography into fuller view, demonstrating how no single participant in it—photographer, subject, camera, photograph, or viewer—has sovereignty over its affect, meaning, or value. The book thus explores the ways in which the innovative incorporation of photography into documentary film permits us to see both of these media otherwise. Photographs, whether professional or vernacular, are conventionally understood to furnish documentaries with indexical evidence and visual illustration of history; yet the spatio-temporal and aural dimensions of film permit documentaries to illuminate photography's wider capacities beyond the merely representational. Combining new critical perspectives on well-known documentary filmmakers and photographers, Agnès Varda, Rithy Panh, Edward Burtynsky, Malick Sidibé, Vivian Maier, JR, Ken Burns, Errol Morris, and Akram Zaatar, with analyses of lesser-known but important documentaries, author Roger Hallas investigates a global range of documentary and vernacular photographic contexts, including Lebanon, Palestine, Mali, Congo, Cambodia, Ireland, Spain, Mexico, Chile, Canada, and the US. While authorship and representation remain common rhetorical frameworks for documentaries about photography, A Medium Seen Otherwise offers a compelling account of how the intermediality between documentary film and photography can posit far more expansive conceptions of both media. A companion website shows clips of films discussed in the book. Cuban Cinema Michael Chanan, 2004. New chapters express ongoing concerns about freedom of expression, the role of the Havana Film Festival in restoring Havana's central position in Latin American cinema, the changing audience for Cuban films. Mad About Cuba Ullekh N.P., 2024-11-30. In 1982, when Ullekh N.P. was still a young schoolboy in Kerala, he first came across Cuba and Fidel Castro in political discussions at home and on the streets. Kerala's active communist movement and high literacy rates had made Castro a recognizable name in the state, and Cuba was idolized as a repository of communist values. While growing up in the north Kerala district of Kannur, a bastion of Marxist politics, Ullekh delved into Cuba's history, culture, literature, and political legends in Leftist journals and through Malayalam translations of Cuban works. The great strides the tiny Caribbean nation made in biotechnology, public health, pharmaceuticals, and agriculture, despite American sanctions, were seen as a testament to the power of public sector-led growth. Ullekh was finally able to travel to Cuba in 2023 on a journalist visa. Mad About Cuba documents his visit and observations. Through conversations with senior bureaucrats, scientists at Cuba

s fabled pharma research institutes youth beginning their careers students and many others he paints an intimate and objective picture of the nation that has managed to withstand American sanctions for over six decades Will the Revolution endure What does the future hold for this island How will its remarkable transcontinental bond with Kerala pan out This wonderfully written book attempts to provide answers Antifascism and the Avant-Garde Julia Alekseyeva, 2025-02-25

Leftist filmmakers of the 1960s revolutionized the art of documentary Often inspired by the radical art of the Soviet 1920s filmmakers in countries like France and Japan dared to make film form a powerful weapon in the fight against fascism weaving fiction into nonfiction and surrealism with neorealism to rupture everyday ways of being seeing and thinking Through careful readings of Matsumoto Toshio Jean Luc Godard Chris Marker Agn s Varda Hani Susumu and others Julia Alekseyeva shows that avant garde documentary films of the 1960s did not strive to inoculate the viewer with the ideology of Truth but instead aimed to unveil and estrange so that viewers might approach capitalist imperialist and fascist media with critical awareness Antifascism and the Avant Garde thus provides a transnational ecology of antifascist art that resonates profoundly with our current age Chris Marker Sarah Cooper, 2021-06-15

Since the early 1950s Chris Marker has embraced different filmmaking styles as readily as he has new technologies and has broadened conceptions of the documentary in distinctly personal ways He has travelled around the world tracking political upheavals and historic events as well as unearthing the stories buried under official reporting This globetrotting filmmaker testifies to his six decades on the move through a passionate devotion to the moving image Yet from the outset his filmic images reveal a fascination with stillness It is at this juncture of mobility and immobility that Sarah Cooper situates her comprehensive study of Marker s films She pays attention to the central place that photographs occupy in his work as well as to the emergence in his filming of statuary painting and other static images including the film still and his interest in fixed frame shooting She engages with key debates in photographic and film theory in order to argue that a different conception of time emerges from his filmic explorations of stasis In detailed readings of each of his films including Le souvenir d un avenir and La Jetee Sans soleil and Level 5 Cooper charts Marker s concern with mortality in varied historical and geographical contexts which embraces the fragility of the human race along with that of the planet Agnes Varda Alison Smith, 2019-01-04

The first introduction in English devoted wholly to Varda and aimed at a general and student audience Places Varda s major films in the context of her whole oeuvre and follows the development of important themes across her work
