Saul, 2011-02-02 Why does it cost nonprofits on average 20 to raise 100 while it costs companies only 4 Simply put Nonprofits have no leverage No one has to make a donation And since most donors have no direct stake in the organizations they support they make donations out of the goodness of their hearts If donors feel like writing a check they will If they don't they won't The End of Fundraising turns fundraising on its head teaching nonprofits how to stop begging for charity and start selling impact For the first time nonprofits have economic power We live in a new era where consumers businesses investors employees and service providers attach real economic value to social outcomes An era where yesterday's feel good issues education the environment health care the arts and animal rights now have direct economic consequences and opportunities Nonprofits now have leverage To use this leverage nonprofits must learn how to sell their impact to a new set of stakeholders Using his fifteen years of experience advising the world's leading nonprofits foundations and corporations Jason Saul reveals the formula for how nonprofits transcend the paradigm of charitable fundraising and reach true financial sustainability Specifically this groundbreaking book offers nonprofit professionals a guide to Understand the role of social change in our economy Capture and communicate impact in simple compelling terms Identify the new market stakeholders that value nonprofit outcomes Create powerful value propositions to increase leverage Improve the success of a nonprofit's pitches to funders The End of Fundraising includes the tools needed to effectively frame market and sell a nonprofit organization's impact and contains step by step guidance for creating dynamic new opportunities with a variety of funders

A Voice for Nonprofits Jeffrey M. Berry, 2023-07-31 Nonprofit organizations are playing an increasingly important role in delivering basic government services Yet they are discouraged by federal law from participating in legislative lobbying efforts even on issues that affect their clients directly Without the involvement of nonprofits in the governmental process the vulnerable populations they serve are left without effective representation in the political system A Voice for Nonprofits analyzes the effect of government restrictions on the participation of nonprofits in the policymaking process and suggests ways to address the problems The relationship between nonprofits and the government is ideal in many respects according to Jeffrey M Berry and David F Arons By underwriting operating budgets and subcontracting the administration of programs to nonprofits governments at all levels are able to take advantage of nonprofits dedication imagination and private fund raising skills However as nonprofits assume greater responsibility for delivering services traditionally provided by government that responsibility is not matched by a congruous increase in policy influence Berry and Arons believe the lobbying restrictions should be eased so that nonprofits may become more involved in public policymaking Their recommendations are designed to ensure that nonprofit organizations and the constituencies they serve are effectively represented in the American political system
