New perspectives on career counseling and guidance in Europe Valérie Cohen-Scali,Jerome Rossier,Laura Nota,2017-10-11 In industrialized societies individuals are facing major challenges that mobilize many of their psychological and social resources The world of work is changing constantly Adults have to adapt their technical skills and knowledge continuously For teenagers and young adults choosing a vocation and constructing their future career paths is becoming increasingly difficult The migration of people and the globalization of the workforce raise questions about social inclusion and the future of affected individuals These examples highlight of the importance of the field of Career Counseling and Guidance to support citizens individually and collectively in building their future The challenges our societies face demonstrate how crucial the development of research in this field is

The European Doctoral Programme in Career Guidance and Counselling ECADOC funded by the European Commission from 2013-2016 has brought together PhD students working on burning issues in this field using various theoretical references and methodologies. The four parts of this book present a selection of innovative research aiming to find answers to the named challenges. Part 1 deals with key psychological processes involved in career construction of young adults. Part 2 presents research concerning transitions over the course of life. Part 3 covers research related to interventions of career guidance and counseling. Part 4 outlines perspectives for the future and proposes a European Research Agenda for our field of research.

Perspectives on Current Research in Career Guidance and Counseling: Building Careers in Changing and Diverse Societies is dedicated to students, researchers, and practitioners in the fields of education, career guidance, psychology, human resource management, to inform them about very recent work and promote the development of innovative interventions and programmes.

Youth Development in Identity Societies James E. Cote, 2018-10-31. This book explores the causes and consequences of the contradictions in young people's lives stemming from the affluence purpose paradox: a lack of purpose in life among many of those living in the most affluent societies in human history. This paradox is endemic to identity societies where people experience a choice-contingent life course and is examined using an interdisciplinary approach, largely with an integration of developmental psychology and sociology but also using historical, anthropological, economic, and political perspectives. The transition to adulthood is now commonly a prolonged process with young people facing a number of psychological challenges and sociological obstacles in their identity formation. Challenges include difficulties in making prudent choices about goals. Obstacles involve cross pressures in the wider society as well as in educational institutions. Consequently, many youth experience their education as alienating and stressful rather than as an opportunity for personal development. Those without a sense of purpose have more difficulties with their identity formation that can produce symptoms of anxiety and depression. The current student mental health crisis is examined in this context. An additional challenge is an ambiguously defined adulthood. Young people who are confused about appropriate adult roles often value hedonistic activities rooted in narcissism and materialism rather than in more fulfilling long-term goals. Conversely, those who are agentic in their personal development can thrive in adulthood, especially when they combine agency with generativity. This book ends with a series of recommendations for researchers and policy makers to help youth cope with the affluence purpose paradox.

The Fractured College Prep Pipeline Heather E. Price, 2021. This book walks readers through the stages of the high school college prep pipeline that introduces interlocked structural barriers to students. The author shows how these barriers reinforce segregated structures that unfairly distribute the public good of education to some students and not others. Price argues that the college prep pipeline of Advanced Placement and International Baccalaureate coursework in American high schools constitutes a new form of tracking in the 21st century. Even further, this new tracking introduces a facade of college readiness that veils the unequal learning opportunities that send some students out into the college world with pockets full of counterfeit credentials that serve only to reinforce the historically oppressive system Whether intentional or not this new form of tracking is embedded in schools across the United States and have lifetime consequences for individual students that reinforce historically racial ethnic and spatial inequalities This book is a rigorous and engaging portrait of the architecture of opportunity in American schools With a fine grained analysis that never loses sight of the big picture Heather Price reveals structural realities of college readiness in the United States that are ripe for change Sean Kelly University of Pittsburgh

Alternative Solutions to Higher Education's Challenges Laura M. Harrison, Peter C. Mather, 2015-08-27

Moving beyond critique Alternative Solutions to Higher Education's Challenges uses an appreciative approach to highlight what is working in colleges and universities and offers an examination of how institutions can improve practice Drawing on examples and cases from real higher education institutions this book offers a solution focused framework that challenges the negative assumptions that have plagued higher education Chapters explore how current narratives have perpetuated and maintained systematic flaws in our education system and have hindered reform This invaluable resource breaks from the substantial literature that only highlights the many problems facing higher education today and instead provides alternative strategies and essential recommendations for moving higher education institutions forward
