Why we have developed this resource

Maths is a key subject in the primary school curriculum. It is a subject that is often taught in a traditional way, with a focus on rote learning and memorisation. This resource is designed to help teachers to move away from this traditional approach and to use a range of assessment strategies to assess their pupils' understanding of maths.

The resource includes 15 practical examples of assessment strategies, including:

- Peer assessment
- Self-assessment
- Group assessment
- Portfolio assessment
- Project assessment

Assessment is at the heart of our learning programme. It is a way of finding out how well we are doing and what we need to improve. It is also a way of giving feedback to our teachers and parents.

There are many different ways to assess our learning. Some are formal, like tests and exams. Some are informal, like class discussions and group work. We can use all of these to help us learn and improve.

Assessment Strategy	How to use it	When to use it
Peer assessment	Ask pupils to assess each other's work.	After a lesson or project.
Self-assessment	Ask pupils to assess their own work.	At the end of a lesson or project.
Group assessment	Ask a group of pupils to assess each other's work.	After a group project or discussion.
Portfolio assessment	Collect pupils' work over time and assess it.	At the end of a term or year.
Project assessment	Assess pupils' work on a specific project.	At the end of a project.

Setting Assessment Rules

Setting assessment rules is an important part of the assessment process. It helps to ensure that all pupils are assessed in the same way and that the assessment is fair and valid. The rules should be clear and simple, and should be agreed with the pupils at the start of the assessment period.

Assessment rules:

- All pupils must follow the rules.
- The rules will be explained to you at the start of the assessment period.
- If you break the rules, you will be penalised.
- If you follow the rules, you will be rewarded.

Assessment rules and assessment process:

The assessment process is a continuous process. It starts with the setting of assessment rules and continues through the assessment period. The assessment process should be fair and valid, and should be used to help pupils learn and improve.

Assessment Strategy	How to use it	When to use it
Peer assessment	Ask pupils to assess each other's work.	After a lesson or project.
Self-assessment	Ask pupils to assess their own work.	At the end of a lesson or project.
Group assessment	Ask a group of pupils to assess each other's work.	After a group project or discussion.
Portfolio assessment	Collect pupils' work over time and assess it.	At the end of a term or year.
Project assessment	Assess pupils' work on a specific project.	At the end of a project.
