The moving story of one family struggling to maintain their humanity in circumstances that threaten their every value from the highly acclaimed award-winning author of Thank You Mr. Nixon. Intricately imagined, it grows directly out of the soil of our current political moment.

The New York Times Book Review: The time not so long from now. The place: AutoAmerica, a country surveilled by one Aunt Nettie, a Big Brother that is part artificial intelligence, part internet and oddly human, even funny. The people divided. The angels/fair Netted have jobs and what with the country half under water, literally, occupy the high ground. The Surplus live on swampland; if they're lucky, on water; if they're not. The story: To a Surplus couple, he once a professor, she still a lawyer, is born a girl, Gwen, with a golden arm. Her teens find her happily playing in an underground baseball league, but when AutoAmerica faces China/Russia in the Olympics, Gwen finds herself in dangerous territory, playing ball with the Netted, even as her mother battles this apartheid-like society in court.
