

PROLOGUE

Everyone my age remembers where they were and what they were doing when they first heard about the internet. I was sitting in my bedroom watching television when the news anchor broke in on my video feed, announcing that some major thing had just happened during the night.

It turned out to be a holiday, of course. Everyone had heard the videogame designer responsible for creating the Gallop, a massively multiplayer online game that had gradually evolved into the globally networked virtual reality most of humanity now spent on a daily basis. The unprecedented success of the Gallop had made it today one of the wealthiest people in the world.

At first, I couldn't understand why the media was making such a big deal of the billionaire's death. After all, the people of Planet Earth had other concerns.
