Rethinking Disability Patrick Devlieger, Beatriz Miranda-Galarza, Steven E. Brown, Megan Strickfaden, 2016-06-15 The act of life is a lived experience common and unique that ties each of us to every other lived experience The fact of disability does not alter this fundamental truth In this edition of Rethinking Disability World Perspectives in Culture and Society we are presented with a system of thinking that considers the values of disability as a resource as a creative source of culture that moves disability out of the realm of victimized people and insurmountable barriers and provides opportunities to use the experience of disability to enter into networks that recognize strengths of differing abilities The authors within will intrigue you will move you will charm you but always will challenge your notion of sameness and difference as they confront the construct and de construct of disability and ableism They present compelling arguments for viewing disABILITY through the multiple lenses of disability culture They explore themes and issues that transcend past and origins time and place nuances of genetics to experiences of present and becoming and towards the future and beyond mere human yet always intrinsically connected to being human This book is intended for all audiences who dare to confront difference and sameness within themselves and in connection with others to inspire researchers who wish to explore and examine disability across social cultural and economic barriers It is an invitation to push away the barriers bring ableism inside to a place where the prosthesis is no longer the elephant in the room

Journalism in the Age of Virtual Reality John V. Pavlik,2019-09-17 With the advent of the internet and handheld or wearable media systems that plunge the user into 360o video augmented or virtual reality technology is changing how stories are told and created In this book John V Pavlik argues that a new form of mediated communication has emerged experiential news Experiential media delivers not just news stories but also news experiences in which the consumer engages news as a participant or virtual eyewitness in immersive multisensory and interactive narratives Pavlik describes and analyzes new tools and approaches that allow journalists to tell stories that go beyond text and image. He delves into developing forms such as virtual reality, haptic technologies, interactive documentaries, and drone media, presenting the principles of how to design and frame a story using these techniques. Pavlik warns that although experiential news can heighten user engagement and increase understanding, it may also fuel the transformation of fake news into artificial realities, and he discusses the standards of ethics and accuracy needed to build public trust in journalism in the age of virtual reality. Journalism in the Age of Virtual Reality offers important lessons for practitioners seeking to produce quality experiential news and those interested in the ethical considerations that experiential media raise for journalism and the public.
