

Art Past Art Present

An impressionist landscape painting featuring a dark, rocky foreground with some small buildings or structures. The middle ground shows a body of water with a small boat. The background is a dramatic, cloudy sky in shades of blue and purple. The overall style is characteristic of Impressionism, with visible brushstrokes and a focus on light and color.

Art Past Art Present 6th Edition:

Art Past, Art Present David G. Wilkins, Bernard Schultz, Kathryn M. Linduff, 1997 Art Past Art Present s global overview and clear expression are finely tuned to the outlook of our times and to satisfying our curiosity about art from its beginnings to its most current expressions everywhere Conceptual Revolutions in Twentieth-Century Art David W.

Galenson, 2009-09-14 From Picasso s Cubism and Duchamp s readymades to Warhol s silkscreens and Smithson s earthworks the art of the twentieth century broke completely with earlier artistic traditions A basic change in the market for advanced art produced a heightened demand for innovation and young conceptual innovators from Picasso and Duchamp to Rauschenberg and Warhol to Cindy Sherman and Damien Hirst responded not only by creating dozens of new forms of art but also by behaving in ways that would have been incomprehensible to their predecessors Conceptual Revolutions in Twentieth Century Art presents the first systematic analysis of the reasons for this discontinuity David W Galenson whose earlier research has changed our understanding of creativity combines social scientific methods with qualitative analysis to produce a fundamentally new interpretation of modern art that will give readers a far deeper appreciation of the art of the past century and of today than is available elsewhere Feminisms is Still Our Name Malin Hedley Hayden, Jessica Sjöholm Skrubbe, 2020-05-22 Feminisms have played a crucial part in art history and curatorial practices over the last forty years Hence it is by now imperative to scrutinize the history of feminist theories and methods within both fields Feminisms is Still Our Name is an anthology that critically debates the current status of feminisms in visual art and its relation to past art histories and possible feminist futures It brings together essays by leading scholars in order to meet the urgent need both for a critical historiography and for re vitalizations of feminist practices within written as well as visual narratives of modern and contemporary art From a variety of perspectives the editors and contributors to this book initiate a much needed debate about possible strategies for a renewal of feminisms in art history and curating At the same time it demonstrates the necessity of further explorations and research into the diversity of feminist pasts Indeed this volume provides strong arguments that historiographical critique is an inevitable part of any future feminism s In providing fresh approaches to such important fields as feminist art history and feminist curating the essays assembled in Feminisms is Still Our Name will provoke fruitful discussion about the relation between academic and curatorial feminist practices Contributors Renee Baert Malin Hedlin Hayden Lolita Jablonskiene Amelia Jones Mary Kelly Griselda Pollock and Jessica Sjöholm Skrubbe

Interpreting Visual Art Catherine Weir, Evans Mandes, 2017-09-08 Interpreting Visual Art explores the psychological and cognitive mechanisms that underlie one s interpretation of art After the brain encodes visual information this encoding is then processed by perceptual mechanisms to identify objects and depth in pictures The brain incorporates many factors in order for people to see the art Cognitive processes have a major role in how people interpret artworks because attention memory and language are also linked to the aesthetic experience Catherine Weir and Evans Mandes first examine major attributes of aesthetic judgement balance symmetry color line and shape from an empirical point of view as opposed to more philosophical and speculative approaches Then they explore the perceptual process paying special attention to art history in the Western world and emphasizing techniques from cave paintings to modern art The role beauty and emotions play in our interpretations of pictures have been investigated from many approaches evolutionary psychology neuroscience and appraisal theory Through the application of empirical research in cognitive science to master works from Botticelli to Pollock readers are introduced to a research oriented understanding of how art has been perceived interpreted and appreciated in the twenty first century This book will appeal to those interested in art as well as those teaching art history psychology and neuroscience

Riveted Jim Davies, 2014-08-05 Why do some things pass under the radar of our attention but other things capture our interest Why do some religions catch on and others fade away What makes a story a movie or a book riveting Why do some people keep watching the news even though it makes them anxious The past 20 years have seen a remarkable flourishing of scientific research into exactly these kinds of questions Professor Jim Davies fascinating and highly accessible book Riveted reveals the evolutionary underpinnings of why we find things compelling from art to religion and from sports to superstition Compelling things fit our minds like keys in the ignition turning us on and keeping us running and yet we are often unaware of what makes these keys fit What we like and don't like is almost always determined by subconscious forces and when we try to consciously predict our own preferences we're often wrong In one study of speed dating people were asked what kinds of partners they found attractive When the results came back the participants' answers before the exercise had no correlation with who they actually found attractive in person We are beginning to understand just how much the brain makes our decisions for us we are rewarded with a rush of pleasure when we detect patterns as the brain thinks we've discovered something significant the mind urges us to linger on the news channel or rubberneck an accident in case it might pick up important survival information it even pushes us to pick up People magazine in order to find out about changes in the social structure Drawing on work from philosophy anthropology religious studies psychology economics computer science and biology Davies offers a comprehensive explanation to show that in spite of the differences between the many things that we find compelling they have similar effects on our minds and brains Art Past, Art Present Harry N. Abrams ,
