Beside Point Encounters Global Classroom:

Creating the Global Classroom Laurence Peters, 2022-03-10 The book examines how to begin to think like a global educator first by examining how our own histories and experiences have formed our own cultural and professional identities and second how the varied frames by which global education can be understood pedagogical ideological and cosmopolitan have shaped the field Laurence Peters connects theory and practice about global education relevant to cultivating global awareness in primary and secondary students Rather than seeing global education as a special field separate from the other disciplines the author encourages integration of global perspectives into everything we do Showcasing how global awareness is a developmental issue dependent upon the student's ability to step outside of their own place based comfort zone this volume lays out a roadmap of major challenges and issues around instilling this awareness in students This book connects theory and practice about global education relevant to cultivating global awareness in primary and secondary students From this foundation the book engages with the challenge of integrating global perspectives within a crowded curriculum By convincing students and teachers alike of global education's centrality thinking globally becomes an integral component of learning across subject areas and grade levels and this work encourages students to exercise empathy for the other and to develop critical skills to see through media distortions and fake news so they can better resist the tendency of politicians in our increasingly multicultural countries to divide people along racial and ethnic lines

Class, Contention, and a World in Motion Winnie Lem, Pauline Gardiner Barber, 2010 The authors challenge currently dominant approaches to migration and offer important ways to move between the individual experience and the structure of the world system Alan Smart University of Calgary

The Global Classroom Brian Thomas O'Rourke, 1990

Beside the Point Philip O. Chomak, 2015-12-10 The stories in this funny and moving memoir by a San Francisco Bay Area teacher of English as a Second Language are never about a point to be taught they are about the unpredictable world beside the point where surprises spring from the quirks of languages theirs and ours and of course from the quirky humans who speak them

Class and Inequality in the Time of Finance Niamh Mulcahy, 2021-09-09 This book explores the effects of the gradual liberalisation of capital markets and the expansion of consumer credit on poorer households in the United Kingdom with particular attention to the precariousness caused by a lack of savings and a reliance on debt Asking what it means for poorer working individuals and households to be subject to the demands of finance the author draws on Michel Foucault's theory of subjectivation as well as Louis Althusser's interest in class actively theorising the constraints of low income or precarious work on financial planning alongside the reorganisation or rollback of government benefits A contribution to our understanding of the ways in which financial concerns deepen and expand economic inequality Class and Inequality in the Time of Finance shows how finance stratifies individual subjects rather than simply individualising and separating them As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology with interests in neoliberalism economic austerity and consumer credit and debt

Consumption, Media and the Global South Mehita Iqani, 2016-01-26 What does consumption in the global south signify and how are its complexities communicated in media discourses This book looks at the media representation of consumer culture in Africa China Brazil and India through case studies ranging from celebrity selfies to travel websites news reports and documentary film

The Middle Class in Emerging Societies Leslie L. Marsh, Hongmei Li, 2015-10-23 This volume examines the discursive construction of the meanings and lifestyle practices of the middle class in the rapidly transforming economies of Asia Latin America Africa and the Middle East focusing on the social political and cultural implications at local and global levels While drawing a comparative analysis of what it means to be middle class in these different locations the essays offer a connective understanding of the middle class phenomenon in emerging market economies and lay the groundwork for future research on emerging transitional societies The book addresses three key dimensions the discursive creation of the middle class the construction of the cultural identity through consumption practices and lifestyle choices and the social political and cultural consequences related to globalization and neoliberalism

World Class Universities Sharon Rider, Michael A. Peters, Mats Hyvönen, Tina Besley, 2020-12-31 This open access book focuses on the dimensions of the discourse of The World Class University its alleged characteristics and its policy expressions It offers a broad overview of the historical background and current trajectory of the world class university construct It also deepens the theoretical discussion and points a way forward out of present impasses resulting from the pervasive use and abuse of the notion of world class and related terms in the discourse of quality assessment The book includes approaches and results from fields of inquiry not otherwise prominent in Higher Education studies including philosophy and media studies as well as sociology anthropology educational theory The growing impact of global rankings and their strategic use in the restructuring of higher education systems to increase global competitiveness has led to a reputation race and the emergence of the global discourse of world class universities The discourse of world class universities has rapid uptake in East Asian countries with China recently refining its strategy This book provides insights into this process and its future development

The Oxford Handbook of Free Will Robert Kane, 2011-07-27 A guide to current work on free will and related subjects the focus is on writings of the past 40 years in which there has been a resurgence of interest in traditional issues about the freedom of the will in the light of new developments in the sciences philosophy and humanistic studies

Language Alternation, Language Choice and Language Encounter in International Tertiary Education Hartmut Haberland, Dorte Lønsmann, Bent Preisler, 2013-06-26 Reflecting the increased use of English as lingua franca in today's university education this volume maps the interplay and competition between English and other tongues in a learning community that in practice is not only bilingual but multilingual The volume includes case studies from Japan Australia South Africa Germany Catalonia China Denmark and Sweden analysing a range of issues such as the conflict between the students native languages and English the reality of parallel teaching in English as well as in the local language and classrooms that are nominally English speaking but multilingual in practice The book assesses the factors common to successful bilingual learners and provides university administrators policy makers and teachers around the world with a much needed commentary on the challenges they face in increasingly multilingual surroundings characterized by a heterogeneous student population Patterns of language alternation and choice have become increasingly important to the development of an understanding of the internationalisation of higher education that is occurring world wide This volume draws on the extensive and varied literature related to the sociolinguistics of globalisation linguistic ethnography discourse analysis language teaching language and identity and language planning as the theoretical bases for the description of the nature of these emerging multilingual communities that are increasingly found in international education It uses observational data from eleven studies that take into account the macro societal meso university and micro participant levels of language interaction to explicate the range of language encounters highlighting both successful and problematic interactions and their related language ideologies Although English is the common lingua franca the studies in the volume highlight the importance of the multilingual resources available to participants in higher educational institutions that are used to negotiate and solve their language problems The volume brings to our attention a range of important insights into language issues found in the internationalisation of higher education and provides a resource for those wishing to understand or do research on how language hybridity and multilingual communicative practices are evolving there Richard B Baldauf Jr Professor The University of Queensland
