Rewriting Television Alison Peirse, 2025-01-14 Rewriting Television suggests that it is time for a radical overhaul of television studies If we don't want to merely recycle the same old methods approaches and tropes for another twenty years we need to consider major changes in why and how we do our work This book offers a new model for doing television or film or media studies that can be taken up around the world It synthesizes ideas from production studies screenwriting studies and the idea of writing otherwise to create a new way of studying television It presents an entirely original approach to working with practitioner interviews that has never been seen before in film television or media studies It then offers a series of original reflections on form story and voice and considers how these reflections could shape future writing in our discipline's Ultimately this is a book of ideas This book asks what if This book is an opportunity to imagine differently

Truth and Storytelling Emily Edwards, 2022-03-01 The goal of this book is to guide writers toward creating more authenticity in visual storytelling One of the needs for art is the mirror a reflection of human existence and what is glorious tragic wonderful and funny about life In an age of post truth where derivative and grotesquely bogus stories are abundant globally networked and digitally streamed this book examines what it means to both artists and audiences when the mirror is consistently distorted inaccurate and biased The book offers a guide for finding authenticity in fictional narrative regardless of genre or form The book is intended as a compass for writers to better understand and confront the truths they want to reveal through narrative stories and how to find legitimacy in the fictional characters and situations they create One element that sets this book apart from others is the use of storyboarding to explain ideas There are many books that teach fundamentals of writing and producing for the screen promising the reader great success through formula This book is a guide for writers in finding their unique creative voice While the emphasis of this book is on creating scripts intended for production of moving image media the guide can be adapted to the creativity of various types of storytellers working in a variety of media fields The Pleasures of Structure Julian Hoxter,2015-02-26

Helps develop a much deeper understanding of story structure using case studies with short practical lessons which all emerge organically from the example at hand
