Networking of personal computers and workstations is becoming commonplace in academic and industrial environments. A cluster of workstations provides engineers with a familiar cost effective environment for high performance computing. However workstations often have no dedicated link and communicate slowly on a local area network LAN such as the Ethernet. Thus to effectively harness the parallel processing or distributed computing capabilities of workstations new algorithms need to be developed with a higher computation to communication ratio. Distributed Computer Aided Engineering presents distributed algorithms for three fundamental areas: finite element analysis, design optimization and visualization, providing a new direction in high performance structural engineering computing.
