Buck Fever The Deer Hunting Tradition In Pennsylvania:

Buck Fever Mike Sajna,1990 Every fall close to one million hunters enter Pennsylvania s forests and mountains in quest of the white tailed deer Some are seeking sport and companionship others are stocking their larders for winter many are conservationists who regard hunting as the most humane way of reducing overpopulated deer herds They all face the increasing activism of animal rights advocates who are opposed to hunting in principle and who frequently picket and harass hunters This controversial subject is explored in depth by Mike Sajna the outdoors columnist for Pittsburgh Magazine and a twenty year veteran of Pennsylvania s pumpkin army the orange clad throng that invades the woods every season To explain the ethos and traditions of hunting he takes the reader to a typical deer camp in Warren County in the rugged terrain of the Allegheny High Plateau Starting with the trek north from their homes around Pittsburgh he captures the sights and sounds thoughts and feelings of three generations of hunters With humor affection and insight he recounts the hunting lore the camaraderie the physical testing that make deer camp a unique experience Classic Deer Camps Robert

Appalachian Autumn Marcia Bonta,2011-12-01 Like her popular Appalachian Spring Marcia Bonta's new book offers a day by day account of the changing world of nature in the mountains of central Pennsylvania This time she chronicles the beauties of the autumn months as she walks the familiar roads and trails of her 500 acre mountain top farm noting the minute transformations of the season as well as the more dramatic ones But her quiet sojourn in the natural world is shattered by the intrusion of a lumberman who insists upon clear cutting a neighboring property The massive bulldozers and skidders crush every tree and shrub weed and wildflower leaving only rubble in their wake The Bontas become involved in a lawsuit challenging this violation of the land they love and seeking to protect their own property from the effects of the logging Autumn is a bittersweet time Bonta writes a season of good byes when after the flaming leaves fall and start the inevitable process of decay we are left with only the bare bones of nature Fleeing from the whine of chain saws and the crash of falling trees she roams the mountain top watching wild turkeys forage in the field flocks of migrating birds feast on wild grapes does and bucks eye each other in their mating ritual But she can never completely evade the insistent question What is the relationship between humans and nature Does ownership give one the right to do as one pleases with the land and all the flora and fauna living on it Does the natural world exists solely to satisfy mankind's desire for profit The answer is not simple it cannot be drawn in winter's black and white But the issues must be of concern to every thoughtful person Marcia Bonta's Appalachian Autumn offers a new voice in the ongoing debate
