Design Ecologies Lisa Tilder, Beth Blotstein, 2012-03-20 Contemporary architects are under increasing pressure to offer a sustainable future. But with all the focus on green building there has been little investigation into the meaningful connections between architectural design, ecological systems and environmentalism. A new generation of architects, landscape architects, designers and engineers aims to recalibrate what humans do in the world according to how the world works as a biophysical system. Design in this sense is a larger concept having to do as much with politics and ethics as with aesthetics and technology. This recasting of the green movement for the twenty first century transforms design into a positive agent balancing societal values with environmental needs. Design Ecologies is a ground breaking collection of never before published essays and case studies by today's most innovative designers and critics. Their design strategies, social, material and biological, run the gamut from the intuitive to the highly technological. One essay likens window unit air conditioners in New York City to weeds in order to spearhead the development of potential design solutions. Latz Partner's Landscape Park integrates vegetation and industry in an urban park built amongst the monumental ruins of a former steelworks in Duisburg Nord Germany. The engineering firm Arup presents its thirty three square mile masterplan for Dongtan Eco City, an energy independent city that China hopes will house half a million people by 2050. An essay by designer Bruce Mau leads off a stellar list of emerging designers including Jane Amidon, Blaine Brownell, David Gissen, Gross Max, Robert Sumrell and Kazys

Varnelis, Stephen Kieran and James Timberlake. R Sie n Studio 804 and WORKac The Experimenters Eva Díaz, 2014-12-25 In the years immediately following World War II, Black Mountain College, an unaccredited school in rural Appalachia, became a vital hub of cultural innovation. Practically every major artistic figure of the mid twentieth century spent some time there: Merce Cunningham, Ray Johnson, Franz Kline, Willem and Elaine de Kooning, Robert Motherwell, Robert Rauschenberg, Dorothea Rockburne, Aaron Siskind, Cy Twombly, the list goes on and on. Yet scholars have tended to view these artists' time at the College as little more than prologue, a step on their way to greatness. With The Experimenters, Eva Díaz reveals the importance of Black Mountain College and especially of three key teachers: Josef Albers, John Cage and R Buckminster Fuller. To be much greater than that, Díaz's focus is on experimentation. Albers, Cage and Fuller, she shows, taught new models of art making that favored testing procedures rather than personal expression. These methodologies represented incipient directions for postwar art practice, elements of which would be sampled and often wholly adopted by Black Mountain students and subsequent practitioners. The resulting works, which interrelate art and life in a way that imbues these projects with crucial relevance, not only reconfigured the relationships among chance, order and design, they helped redefine what artistic practice was and could be for future generations. Offering a bold, compelling new angle on some of the most widely studied creative figures of modern times, The Experimenters does nothing less than rewrite the story of art in the mid twentieth century. Spaceship in the Desert Gökçe Günel, 2019-02-14 In 2006, Abu Dhabi launched an ambitious project to construct the world's first zero carbon city, Masdar City. In Spaceship in the Desert, Gökçe Günel examines the development and construction of Masdar City's renewable energy and clean technology infrastructures providing an illuminating portrait of an international group of engineers designers and students who attempted to build a post oil future in Abu Dhabi While many of Masdar's initiatives such as developing a new energy currency and a driverless rapid transit network have stalled or not met expectations G nel analyzes how these initiatives contributed to rendering the future a thinly disguised version of the fossil fueled present Spaceship in the Desert tells the story of Masdar at once a utopia sponsored by the Emirati government and a well resourced company involving different actors who participated in the project each with their own agendas and desires

The Limits of Fabrication Nathan Brown, 2017-01-02 Poetry or poesis has long been understood as a practice of making But how are experiments in the making of poetic forms related to formal making in science and engineering The Limits of Fabrication takes up this question in the context of recent developments in nanoscale materials science investigating concepts and ideologies of form at stake in new approaches to material construction Tracing the direct pertinence of fields crucial to the new materials science nanotechnology biotechnology crystallography and geodesic design in the work of Shanxing Wang Caroline Bergvall Christian Bök and Ronald Johnson back to the midcentury development of Charles Olson's objectist poetics Nathan Brown carves out a tradition of constructivist nonorganic poetics that has developed in conversation with science and engineering While proposing a new approach to the relation of techn craft skill and poesis making forming this book also intervenes in philosophical debates concerning the concept of the object the distinction between organic and inorganic matter theories of self organization and the relation between design and nature Engaging with Heidegger Agamben Whitehead Stiegler and Nancy Brown shows that materials science and materialist poetics offer crucial resources for thinking through the direction of contemporary materialist philosophy      A More Perfect Union Linda Sargent Wood, 2012-10-18 This book uncovers a holistic sensibility in post World War II American culture that challenged Cold War logic and fed some of the century's most powerful social movements This impulse is illustrated by focusing on Rachel Carson Buckminster Fuller Martin Luther King Jr Abraham Maslow Pierre Teilhard de Chardin and the Esalen Institute
