Building Resilience To Trauma The Trauma And Community Resiliency Models:

Building Resilience to Trauma Elaine Miller-Karas, 2015 Building Resilience to Trauma explains common responses to trauma from a biological perspective reframing the human experience from one of shame and pathology to one of hope and biology It also offers an alternative approach the Trauma Resiliency Model TRM which offers concrete and practical skills that resonate with what we know about the biology of trauma Building Resilience to Trauma Elaine

Miller-Karas, 2015-02-20 After a traumatic experience survivors often experience a cascade of physical emotional cognitive behavioral and spiritual responses that leave them feeling unbalanced and threatened Building Resilience to Trauma explains these common responses from a biological perspective reframing the human experience from one of shame and pathology to one of hope and biology It also presents alternative approaches the Trauma Resiliency Model TRM and the Community Resiliency Model CRM which offer concrete and practical skills that resonate with what we know about the biology of trauma In programs co sponsored by the World Health Organization the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee ADRA International and the department of behavioral health of San Bernardino County the TRM and the CRM have been used to reduce and in some cases eliminate the symptoms of trauma by helping survivors regain a sense of balance Clinicians will find that they can use the models with almost anyone who has experienced or witnessed any event that was perceived as life threatening or posed a serious injury to themselves or to others The models can also be used to treat symptoms of vicarious traumatization and compassion fatigue Designing Knowledge Economies for Disaster Resilience Pamela Waldron-Moore, 2023-11-10 Disaster research has been studied from many angles seldom targeting its implications for vulnerable territories in Africa Entities most subject to the effects of climate change are often undeveloped and located in disadvantaged regions Post disaster communities need to scrutinize the social political economic and cultural structures that stagnate sustainable growth Acknowledging that low economic development and high climate costs cannot coexist this collected volume interrogates the challenge for disaster prone territories to determine strategies for restructuring and redesigning their environment This book proposes the creation of knowledge economies whereby empowered communities may produce innovative knowledge translatable across the African diaspora Reframing Trauma M. Jan Holton, Jill L.

Snodgrass, 2025 As awareness of the widespread presence of trauma grows popular culture can name everything stressful traumatic Yet diagnostic definitions of trauma overlook cultural understandings that refine our conceptualization of trauma M Jan Holton and Jill L Snodgrass argue for a theory and theology of trauma to navigate such complexities In Reframing Trauma Holton and Snodgrass compile essays that expand our understanding of trauma as a stress trauma continuum The volume engages the challenges of racism eco violence and myriad sociopolitical and interpersonal injustices that injure individuals communities and the globe Each essay is grounded in a strength based approach to trauma and contextualizes our societal negativity bias within spiritual values of hope growth and resilience Meanwhile the understanding of a trauma stress continuum avoids diminishing the suffering that emerges from stress and trauma of all kinds Holton and Snodgrass also offer a reframed theology of trauma The volume mines Christian theology and wisdom from other faith traditions for insight into interpersonal and communal woundedness that paradoxically both expands and narrows our understandings of trauma This exploration helps identify implications for spiritually integrated care and counseling chaplaincy and pastoral education The result is a groundbreaking understanding of stress and trauma as an ever evolving concept that is imbued with theological and spiritual wisdom Such wisdom eschews the limitations of Western understandings of trauma This wisdom offers insight into how stressful and traumatic experiences can be both life limiting and life giving both despair inducing and the impetus for growth and resilience Reframing Trauma will engage educators in pastoral and practical theology spirituality and psychology care practitioners in congregational and healthcare settings and clinical mental health professionals who offer spiritually integrated care Likewise trained Christian laity will find the book an invaluable resource for cultivating an inclusive and meaningful understanding of trauma in their congregational caregiving

Jennifer Baldwin, 2018-09-20 The intention of Trauma Sensitive Theology is to help theologians professors clergy spiritual care givers and therapists speak well of God and faith without further wounding survivors of trauma It explores the nature of traumatic exposure response processing and recovery and its impact on constructive theology and pastoral leadership and care Through the lenses of contemporary traumatology somatics and the Internal Family Systems model of psychotherapy the text offers a framework for seeing trauma and its impact in the lives of individuals communities society and within our own sacred texts It argues that care of traumatic wounding must include all dimensions of the human person including our spiritual practices religious rituals and community participation and theological thinking As such clergy and spiritual care professionals have an important role to play in the recovery of traumatic wounding and fostering of resiliency This book explores how trauma informed congregational leaders can facilitate resiliency and offers one way of thinking theologically in response to traumatizing abuses of relational power and our resources for restoration Neighborhood Resilience and Urban Conflict

Karina V. Korostelina, 2021-10-21 This book explores the resilience in urban neighborhoods affected by chronic conflict and violence developing a new model for improving resilience policies The neighborhood resilience approach is an inclusive form of building positive resilience which recognizes that local communities possess valuable skills and experience of dealing with crises and prioritizes the agency of local communities in the production of knowledge and developing practices The book identifies and describes the repertoire of neighborhood resilience practices organized in four clusters 1 addressing the structure of conflict 2 increasing the effectiveness of external resources 3 enhancing the community capacities and 4 reflecting the dynamics of identity and power in neighborhoods One of the key findings of the book is the nonlinear connections between structure and dynamics of conflict and neighborhood resilience practices represented in the Four Loops Model The concentration on community based practices addresses macro level critiques of neo liberalism in critical resilience studies and encourages rethinking the ways community based indicators might operate in combination with existing macro indicators of resilience The bottom up indicators provide more specific details and essential localized experiences for improving resilience policies at the national level This book will be of much interest to students of conflict resolution resilience urban studies and US politics
