Built For Speed A Year In The Life Of Pronghorn:

Built for Speed John A. Byers, 2009-07-01 North America's fastest mammal the pronghorn can accelerate explosively from standing to a top speed of 60 miles per hour but it can also cruise at 45 mph for many miles What accounts for the speed of this extraordinary animal And what is it like to be a field biologist dedicating 20 years to studying this species Byers answers these questions The Landscape of Home Jeff Lee, John Calderazzo, Sue Ellen Campbell, David Waag, 2006 An anthology of some of the most evocative writing focusing on our vast natural heritage along with pieces that address pressing land issues facing the West This collection not only paints a vivid portrait of life in the Rocky Mountains it also presents some of the finest nonfiction writing to be found in America today This is a perfect selection that is bound to sink reader's roots deeper in the landscape of home Altruistic Armadillos, Zenlike Zebras Jeffrey Moussaieff Masson, 2010-02-01 From the elegant lithe and yes friendly cheetah to the diminutive and faithful sea horse and from the giant and surprisingly warlike hippopotamus to the majestic gorilla animals have long fascinated humans In this appealing book Jeffrey Moussaieff Masson draws from his wealth of knowledge and a lifetime of fascination with the animal kingdom to present little known facts and thorough explanations for behaviors of animals both familiar and lesser known Presented from A to Z each entry is accompanied by a beautiful full color photograph Readers will learn from someone who knows these animals and loves them as much as you do Wild Again David S. Jachowski, 2014-03-28 This engaging personal account of one of America's most contested wildlife conservation campaigns has as its central character the black footed ferret Once feared extinct and still one of North America's rarest mammals the black footed ferret exemplifies the ecological social and political challenges of conservation in the West including the risks involved with intensive captive breeding and reintroduction to natural habitat David Jachowski draws on more than a decade of experience working to save the ferret His unique perspective and informative anecdotes reveal the scientific and human aspects of conservation as well as the immense dedication required to protect a species on the edge of extinction By telling one story of conservation biology in practice its routine work triumphs challenges and inevitable conflicts this book gives readers a greater understanding of the conservation ethic that emerged on the Great Plains as part of one of the most remarkable recovery efforts in the history of the Endangered Species Act

Feats of Strength Simon Lailvaux, 2018-05-22 A fascinating exploration of the extreme world of animal athletics how these stunning abilities have evolved and their insights into human performance and evolution How is it that fish can climb waterfalls snakes glide and cheetahs run so fast Natural and sexual selection has driven the evolution of diverse and amazing athletic abilities throughout the animal kingdom Integrative biologist Simon Lailvaux draws on decades of performance research to highlight the ecological and evolutionary importance of these abilities which include running jumping flying biting climbing and swimming and explains the many reasons they exist He describes the methods and tools scientists use to measure animal performance remote sensing technologies that can capture a cheetah's running speed or force meters that gauge the strength of a lizard's bite or crab's grip as well as the diverse mechanisms underlying and enabling spectacular animal athletic feats Using examples from the smallest insects to birds whales and even dinosaurs Lailvaux provides a unique glimpse into a vibrant eclectic field of research and points to new directions for understanding performance evolution in both animals and humans
