Conflict and the Environment N.P. Gleditsch, 1997-09-30 The end of the Cold War has opened up the arena for increased attention to other lines of conflict both in Europe and globally Environmental disruption by no means a new phenomenon is a chief beneficiary of the shift in priorities in the public debate The Scientific and Environmental Affairs Division of NATO has moved with the times and has defined environmental security as one of the priority areas for its cooperation with Central and Eastern Europe and countries of the former Soviet Union Research on these issues is now thus very much a collaborative effort across former lines of division in Europe The Introduction by Sverre Stub sets the tone Our Future Common or None at All The book reveals the very real risks associated with environmental degradation whether of the land waters or the oceans and charts out previous disputes and points to the very real danger of violent conflict associated with the drying up of natural resources The book ends with a section on Responses which seeks to provide answers to the threats discussed in the preceding sections

Diaspora and Citizenship Claire Sutherland, Elena Barabantseva, 2013-09-13 This collection of papers discusses the impact of diasporas on the articulations and practices of legal political cultural and social citizenship in their country of origin While the majority of current citizenship debates focus on the challenges and directions in which diasporic and migrant communities impact on the citizenship regime in their country of settlement the papers in this volume approach the study of citizenship from the perspective of the link between the sending state and its diasporic communities abroad The papers discuss the role of language religion kinship and other ethnic markers in diaspora politics and trace their implications for the articulations and practices of citizenship Through discussing cases across political and geographical spectrums and from different historical epochs the book broadens and enriches the debate on citizenship by demonstrating important ways in which diasporas impact on the delineation of citizenship regimes and the politics of national identity in their homeland This links to the continued use of language as an ethnic marker but also one which may be learned allowing a certain degree of choice and shifting affiliations amongst putative members of a diaspora This book was published as a special issue of Nationalism and Ethnic Politics

Imagining Industan Zafar Adeel, Robert G. Wirsing, 2016-10-20 This volume calls upon over a dozen Indus observers to imagine a scenario for the Indus basin in which transboundary cooperation over water resources overcomes the insecurity arising from water dependence and scarcity From diverse perspectives its essays examine the potential benefits to be gained from revisiting the 1960 Indus Waters Treaty as well as from mounting joint efforts to increase water supply to combat climate change to develop hydroelectric power and to improve water management The Indus basin is shared by four countries Afghanistan China India and Pakistan The basin s significance stems in part simply from the importance of these countries three of them among the planet s most populous states one of them boasting the world s second largest economy and three of them members of the exclusive nuclear weapons club However the basin s significance stems also from the great importance of the Indus waters themselves due especially to the region s massive dependence on irrigated agriculture as well as to the menace of climate change and advancing water scarcity The Industan this volume imagines is a definite departure from business as usual responses to the Indus basin s emerging fresh water crisis The objective is to kindle serious discussion of the cooperation needed to confront what many water experts believe is developing into one of the planet s most gravely threatened river basins It is thus both assessment of the current state of play in regard to water security in the Indus basin and recommendation about where to go from here
