Baker Mona 1992 In Other Words A Coursebook On Translation:

In Other Words Mona Baker, 2011-01-25 In Other Words is the definitive coursebook for anyone studying translation. Assuming no knowledge of foreign languages, it offers both a practical and theoretical guide to translation studies and provides an important foundation for training professional translators. Drawing on modern linguistic theory, this best-selling text provides a solid base to inform and guide the many key decisions trainee translators have to make. Each chapter offers an explanation of key concepts, identifies potential sources of translation difficulties related to those concepts, and illustrates various strategies for resolving these difficulties. Authentic examples of translated texts from a wide variety of languages are examined, and practical exercises and further reading are included at the end of each chapter. The second edition has been fully revised to reflect recent developments in the field, and new features include a new chapter that addresses issues of ethics and ideology in response to increased pressures on translators and interpreters to demonstrate accountability and awareness of the social impact of their decisions. Examples and exercises from new genres such as audiovisual translation, scientific translation, oral interpreting, website translation, and news media translation. New project-driven exercises designed to support MA dissertation work. Updated references and further reading. A companion website featuring further examples and tasks. Written by Mona Baker, a leading international figure in the field, this key text is the essential coursebook for any student of translation studies. More Paragraphs on Translation

Peter Newmark, 1998 This text covers the field of translation applied to information, human relations, and literature. It is illustrated with examples and quotations. The content of the book covers the following subject areas: translation topics such as examining, assessing, capitalization, emphasis, idiolect, grecolatinisms across languages, the small print, eponyms, and howlers; translation theory; differences between good and bad translation; good and bad writing; literary and non-literary texts and translations; cultural and universal factors; translation as a matter of public interest in the European Union and national parliaments, as well as in museums and art galleries; and critical discussion of recently published books and conference proceedings. Translation Studies at the Interface of Disciplines

A History of Modern Translation Knowledge Lieven D'hulst, Yves Gambier, 2018-06-28 A History of Modern Translation Knowledge is the first attempt to map the coming into being of modern thinking about translation. It breaks with the well-established tradition of viewing history through the reductive lens of schools, theories, turns, or interdisciplinary exchanges. It also challenges the artificial distinction between past and present and it sustains that the latter's historical roots go back far beyond the 1970s. Translation Studies is but part of a broader set of discourses on translation we propose to label translation knowledge. This book concentrates on seven processes that make up the history of modern translation knowledge: generating, mapping, internationalising, historicising, analysing, disseminating, and applying knowledge. All processes are covered by 58 domain experts and allocated over 55 chapters with cross-references.

This book is indispensable reading for advanced Master and PhD students in Translation Studies who need background information on the history of their field with relevance for Europe the Americas and large parts of Asia It will also interest students and scholars working in cultural and social history

Recharting Territories Gisele Dionísio da Silva, Maura Radicioni, 2022-09-15 Since the inception of Translation Studies in the 1970s its researchers have held regular metareflections Largely based on the assessment of translation and interpreting as two distinct but related modes of language mediation each with its own research culture these intradisciplinary debates have sought to take stock of the state of research within an ever expanding discipline in search of institutional identity and autonomy Recharting Territories proposes a more widespread and systematic intradisciplinary approach to researching translational phenomena one which can be applied at various analytical levels theoretical conceptual methodological pragmatic and emphasize both similarities and differences between subdisciplines Such an approach rather than consolidating a territorial attitude on the part of scholars aims to raise awareness of the ever shifting terrain on which Translation Studies stands

Translating Feminism in China

Zhongli Yu, 2015-06-05 This book explores translation of feminism in China through examining several Chinese translations of two typical feminist works The Second Sex TSS Beauvoir 1949 1952 and The Vagina Monologues TVM Ensler 1998 TSS exposes the cultural construction of woman while TVM reveals the pervasiveness of sexual oppression toward women The female body and female sexuality including lesbian sexuality constitute a challenge to the Chinese translators due to cultural differences and sexuality still being a sensitive topic in China This book investigates from gender and feminist perspectives how TSS and TVM have been translated and received in China with special attention to how the translators meet the challenges Since translation is the gateway to the reception of feminism an examination of the translations should reveal the response to feminism of the translator as the first reader and gatekeeper and how feminism is translated both ideologically and technically in China The translators decisions are discussed within the social historical and political contexts Translating Feminism in China discusses among other issues Feminist Translation Practice Theory and Studies Translating the Female Body and Sexuality Translating Lesbianism Censorship Sexuality and Translation This book will be relevant to postgraduate students and researchers of translation studies It will also interest academics interested in feminism gender studies and Chinese literature and culture

Zhongli Yu is Assistant Professor of Translation Studies at the University of Nottingham Ningbo China UNNC Between the Lines: Yang Lian's Poetry Through Translation Cosima Bruno, 2012-06-08 Between the Lines provides theoretical foundation and a methodology for studying poetry through translation With insider's perspective the author Cosima Bruno presents contemporary Chinese poems by Yang Lian b 1955 as case study How Does it Feel? Point of View in Translation Charlotte Bosseaux, 2007-01-01 Narratology is concerned with the study of narratives but surprisingly it does not usually distinguish between original and translated texts This lack of distinction is regrettable In recent years the visibility of translations and translators has become a widely discussed topic in Translation Studies yet the issue of translating a novel's point of view has remained relatively unexplored It seems crucial to ask how far a translator's choices affect the novel's point of view and whether characters or narrators come across similarly in originals and translations This book addresses exactly these questions It proposes a method by which it becomes possible to investigate how the point of view of a work of fiction is created in an original and adapted in translation It shows that there are potential problems involved in the translation of linguistic features that constitute point of view deixis modality transitivity and free indirect discourse and that this has an impact on the way works are translated Traditionally comparative analysis of originals and their translations have relied on manual examinations this book demonstrates that corpus based tools can greatly facilitate and sharpen the process of comparison The method is demonstrated using Virginia Woolf's To The Lighthouse 1927 and The Waves 1931 and their French translations A Qualitative Approach to Translation Studies Elisa Calvo, Elena de la Cova, 2023-12-22 This collection invites readers to explore innovative or underexploited ways of working qualitatively with what in Translation Studies may be termed as elusive constructs The volume adopts a functionalist approach to focus on one such concept namely the notion of translation problem using case studies to illustrate how a significant elusive construct can be addressed empirically It explores different qualitative research methodologies which although well established in other fields are yet to be extensively used in TS but which may nevertheless prove to be of significance for future studies as they allow elusive concepts typically found in TS to be worked with more coherently Chapters are structured around two core ideas first the qualitative systematic analysis of source text content with emphasis on the detection of translation problems as a means of creating efficient frameworks for coherent decision making from a functional perspective and secondly the practical process of stereotyping and profiling specific problems within different contexts content types or services to help identify manage and resolve them in a number of settings from research to professional translator training and assessment environments This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies particularly those with an interest in qualitative approaches
