Memory in the Twenty-First Century Sebastian Groes,2016-03-29 This book maps and analyses the changing state of memory at the start of the twenty first century in essays written by scientists scholars and writers It recontextualises memory by investigating the impact of new conditions such as the digital revolution climate change and an ageing population on our world

Time in Twenty-First-Century British and American Literature Sonia Front,2025-06-20 This book investigates representations of time in twenty first century Anglo American literature In the digital era characterized by a new regime of time fiction offers revisions of prevalent oppressive notions of time that can serve as productive political strategies to reclaim the agency of the subject This book discusses literary texts that craft innovative temporal structures out of sync with the new time logic suspended temporality Chapter 1 time as a conflation of phenomenological experience and cosmological laws Chapter 2 previewing the future Chapter 3 and networked memory Chapter 4 The proposed politically productive temporalities such as deep presence or resonance compatibilism contingency and the use of narrative as a chronologizing strategy ground a vision of change and suggest a way out of the crisis of time Identifying new timeframes in twenty first century fiction by an array of writers this book demonstrates that literature remains a valid medium for theorizing and representing time

Planetary Memory in Contemporary American Fiction Lucy Bond,Ben De Bruyn,Jessica Rapson,2019-10-23 This book considers the ways in which contemporary American fiction seeks to imagine a mode of planetary memory able to address the scalar and systemic complexities of the Anthropocene the epoch in which the combined activity of the human species has become a geological force in its own right Authors examine the recent emergence of a literary and cultural imaginary of planetary memory an imaginary which attempts to give form to the complex interrelations between human and non human worlds between local national and global concerns and perhaps most importantly between historical and geological pasts presents and futures Chapters highlight distinct regions and landscapes of the US from the Appalachians to the South West the Rust Belt New York City Alaska New Orleans and the Rocky Mountains in order to examine how the ecological economic and historical specificity of these environments is underpinned by their implication on networks of planetary significance and scope Overall the collection aims to study develop and recognise new models of cultural memory and anxious anticipation as they emerge and evolve thus opening new conversations about practices of remembering and remembrance on an increasingly fragile planet This book was originally published as a special issue of Textual Practice

Corporeal Legacies in the US South Christopher Lloyd,2018-08-22 This book examines the ways in which the histories of racial violence from slavery onwards are manifest in representations of the body in twenty first century culture set in the US South Christopher Lloyd focuses on corporeality in literature and film to detail the workings of cultural memory in the present Drawing on the fields of Southern Studies Memory Studies and Black Studies the book also engages psychoanalysis Animal Studies and posthumanism to revitalize questions of the racialized body Lloyd traces corporeal legacies in the US South through novels by Jesmyn Ward Kathryn Stockett and others alongside film and television such as Beasts of the Southern Wild and The Walking Dead In all the book explores the ways in which bodies in contemporary southern culture bear the traces of racial regulation and injury

Digital Afterlife Maggi Savin-Baden, Victoria Mason-Robbie, 2020-04-02 Despite the range of studies into grief and mourning in relation to the digital research to date largely focuses on the cultural practices and meanings that are played out in and through digital environments Digital Afterlife brings together experts from diverse fields who share an interest in Digital Afterlife and the wide ranging issues that relate to this The book covers a variety of matters that have been neglected in other research texts for example The legal ethical and philosophical conundrums of Digital Afterlife The ways digital media are currently being used to expand the possibilities of commemorating the dead and managing the grief of those left behind Our lives are shaped by and shape the creation of our Digital Afterlife as the digital has become a taken for granted aspect of human experience This book will be of interest to undergraduates from computing theology business studies philosophy psychology sociology and education from all types of institutions Secondary audiences include researchers and postgraduate researchers with an interest in the digital At a practical level the cost of data storage and changing data storage systems mitigate the likelihood of our digital presence existing in perpetuity Whether we create accidental or intentional digital memories this has psychological consequences for ourselves and for society Essentially the foreverness of forever is in question Maggi Savin Baden is Professor of Higher Education Research at the University of Worcester She has a strong publication record of over 50 research publications and 17 books Victoria Mason Robbie is a Chartered Psychologist and an experienced lecturer having worked in the Higher Education sector for over 15 years Her current research focuses on evaluating web based avatars pedagogical agents and virtual humans

Brainmedia Flora Lysen, 2022-07-28 Will we ever be able to see the brain at work Could it be possible to observe thinking and feeling as if watching a live broadcast from within the human head Brainmedia uncovers past and present examples of scientists and science educators who conceptualize and demonstrate the active human brain guided by new media technologies from exhibitions of giant illuminated brain models and staged projections of brainwave recordings to live televised brain broadcasts brains hooked up to computers and experiments with brain to brain synchronization Drawing on archival material Brainmedia outlines a new history of live brains arguing that practices of and ideas about mediation impacted the imagination of seeing the brain at work By combining accounts of scientists examining brains in laboratories with examples of public demonstrations and exhibitions of brain research Brainmedia casts new light on popularization practices placing them at the heart of scientific work

Political Memory and the Constantinian Dynasty Rebecca Usherwood, 2022-03-21 This book is an exploration of political memory and disgrace in the reigns of Constantine and his sons It uses the conditions of the early to mid fourth century to argue that the deconstruction of political legitimacy should be viewed first and foremost as a collective phenomenon the result of the actions of a diverse range of people responding to political change It also challenges many positivist and teleological narratives of the Age of Constantine Shifting the focus from the emperor and his sons onto their rivals and opponents the Constantinian dynasty is placed back into the messy and ambiguous political environment from which it emerged
