A New Way With Crime:

Technocrime Stéphane Leman-Langlois, 2013-05-13 This book is concerned with the concept of technocrime. The term encompasses crimes committed on or with computers, the standard definition of cybercrime, but it goes well beyond this to convey the idea that technology enables an entirely new way of committing, combating, and thinking about criminality: criminals, police, courts, victims, and citizens. Technology offers, for example, not only new ways of combating crime but also new ways to look for, unveil, and label crimes and new ways to know, watch, prosecute, and punish criminals. Technocrime differs from books concerned more narrowly with cybercrime in taking an approach and understanding of the scope of technology's impact on crime and crime control. It uncovers mechanisms by which behaviours become crimes or cease to be called crimes. It identifies a number of corporate, government, and individual actors who are instrumental in this construction. And it looks at the beneficiaries of increased surveillance, control, and protection as well as the targets of it. Chapters in the book cover specific technologies, e.g., the use of CCTV in various settings, computers, hackers, and security experts, photo radar, but have a wider objective to provide a comparative perspective and some broader theoretical foundations for thinking about crime and technology than have existed hitherto. This is a pioneering book which advances our understanding of the relationship between crime and technology, drawing upon the disciplines of criminology, political science, sociology, psychology, anthropology, surveillance studies, and cultural studies. The Oxford Handbook of Prisons and Imprisonment John D. Wooldredge, Paula Smith, 2018-03-09 Research on prisons prior to the prison boom of the 1980s and 1990s focused mainly on inmate subcultures, inmate rights, and sociological interpretations of inmate and guard adaptations to their environment, with qualitative studies and ethnographic methods the norm. In recent years, research has expanded considerably to issues related to inmates' mental health, suicide, managing special types of offenders, risk assessment, and evidence-based treatment programs. The Oxford Handbook of Prisons and Imprisonment provides the only single source that bridges social, scientific, and behavioral perspectives, providing graduate students with a more comprehensive understanding of the topic, academics with a body of knowledge that will more effectively inform their own research, and practitioners with an overview of evidence-based best practices. Across thirty chapters, leading contributors offer new ideas, critical treatments of substantive topics with theoretical and policy implications, and comprehensive literature reviews that reflect cumulative knowledge on what works and what doesn't. The Handbook covers critical topics in the field, some of which include recent trends in imprisonment, prison gangs, inmate victimization, the use and impact of restrictive housing, unique problems faced by women in prison, special offender populations, risk assessment, and treatment effectiveness, prisoner re-entry, and privatization. The Oxford Handbook of Prisons and Imprisonment offers a rich source of information on the current state of institutional corrections around the world, on issues facing both inmates and prison staff, and on how those issues may impede or facilitate the various goals of incarceration. Symposium on Federal Sentencing Policy for Economic Crimes and New Technology Offenses, 2000

ICSGS 2019 Muhammad Syaroni Rofii, Adis Imam Munandar, Danial Mohd. Yusof, 2020-11-13 The International Conference on Strategic and Global Studies is organized by the School of Strategic and Global Studies SSGS Universitas Indonesia The ICSGS conference is an annual meeting event involving lecturers students and researchers who are concerned with contemporary national and international issues that are directly related to the problems faced by the government and the private sector using a multidisciplinary approach Participants of this conference came from the ASEAN region and the global network of the Universitas Indonesia Ethical and Social Perspectives on Situational Crime Prevention Andreas von Hirsch,David Garland,Alison Wakefield,2000-11-18 Table of contents Crime and Technology Ernesto U. Savona,2004-11-22 Guido Rossi As Chairman of ISPAC I want to thank all the contributors to this book that originates from the International Conference on Crime and Technology This could be the end of my presentation if I did not feel uneasy not considering one of the problems I believe to be pivotal in the relationship between crime and technology I shall also consider that the same relationship exists between terror and globalization while globalization is stemming from technology and terror from crime Transnational terrorism is today made possible by the vast array of communication tools But the paradox is that if globalization facilitates terrorist violence the fight against this war without borders is potentially disastrous for both economic development and globalization Antiterrorist measures restrict mobility and financial flows while new terrorist attacks could lead the way for an antiglobalist reaction But the global society has yet to agree on a common definition of terrorism or on a common policy against it The ordinary traditional criminal law is still depending on the sovereignty of national states while international criminal justice is only a spotty and contested last resort The fragmented and weak international institutions and underdeveloped civil societies have no power to enforce criminal justice against terrorism At the same time the states that are its targets have no interest in applying the laws of war the Geneva Conventions to their fight against terrorists
