A Nostalgic Look At Belfast Trams Since 1945:

A Nostalgic Look at Belfast Trams Since 1945 J. M. Maybin, 1994 Belfast Through Time Aidan Campbell, 2016-04-15 This fascinating selection of photographs traces some of the many ways in which Belfast has changed and developed over the last century Wales, Isle of Man & Ireland, Post 1945 Peter Waller, 2020-01-31 This is the fourth book in a series that covers the history of the tram systems of the British Isles post war It covers the networks in Wales the Isle of Man and Ireland Peter Waller examines the history of the tramways in Ireland Wales and on the Isle of Man With three different legislative frameworks the history of the systems covered are very different from the surviving horse tramway at Douglas on the Isle of Man through to the new Luas system operating in Dublin With an overview that provides the background to all of the tramways that once operated plus the only tramway in the Channel Islands alongside a comprehensive account of those systems that survived after 1945 the book is a fascinating portrait of the changing streetscapes of cities like Belfast and Cardiff as well as the remarkable survivor post war such as the Bessbrook Newry and the Llandudno Colwyn Bay Fully illustrated throughout with mono and colour illustrations many of which have never been published before as well as system maps the book will be of interest to all with a history of trams past and present in the British Isles Britain's Preserved Trams Peter Waller, 2021-10-30 It is almost 100 years since the first tram was preserved in Britain in the century since then a great variety of trams have been saved from tramway systems small and large Some trams were purchased directly out of service and others were acquired after many years alternative usage some being summer houses or homes while others were used on farms or allotments where they served as sheds and out buildings before being lovingly restored over many years The story of tram preservation is not wholly positive in the early days many trams suffered from being stored in the open at unsafe sites where the historic vehicles were often subjected to acts of vandalism and suffered badly from the weather This changed to a large extent in 1959 with the acquisition of the site of the future National Tramway Museum at Crich in Derbyshire where a comprehensive collection of trams from all over Britain and also foreign tram networks has been assembled to secure a collection of tramcars for future generations There is also today fine collections of trams in other museums in Britain and Ireland which cover much of the rich history of this once common form of public transport This book looks at almost 200 of these trams when they were in service through historic photographs prior to their withdrawal and eventual preservation Belfast Reflections Aidan Campbell, 2022-04-15 A fascinating collection of merged historic and modern images that reflect the changes in Belfast through the decades Rails in the Road Oliver Green, 2016-10-31 There have been passenger tramways in Britain for 150 years but it is a rollercoaster story of rise decline and a steady return Trams have come and gone been loved and hated popular and derided considered both wildly futuristic and hopelessly outdated by politicians planners and the public alike Horse trams introduced from the USA in the 1860s were the first cheap form of public transport on city streets Electric systems were developed in nearly every urban area from the 1890s and revolutionised town travel in the Edwardian era A century ago trams were at their peak used by everyone all over the country and a mark of civic pride in towns and cities from Dover to Dublin But by the 1930s they were in decline and giving way to cheaper and more flexible buses and trolleybuses By the 1950s all the major systems were being replaced Londons last tram ran in 1952 and ten years later Glasgow the city most firmly linked with trams closed its network down Only Blackpool famous for its decorated cars kept a public service running and trams seemed destined only for scrapyards and museums A gradual renaissance took place from the 1980s with growing interest in what are now described as light rail systems in Europe and North America In the UK and Ireland modern trams were on the streets of Manchester from 1992 followed successively by Sheffield Croydon the West Midlands Nottingham Dublin and Edinburgh 2014 Trams are now set to be a familiar and significant feature of twenty first century urban life with more development on the way

The Star Factory Ciaran Carson,1998 One of Ireland s most celebrated writers musicians and poets Ciaran Carson was born in Belfast and has spent his life there In The Star Factory he makes himself the cartographer of his home city s spaces symbolic and literal the scribe of its byways and avenues from Abbey Road to Zetland Street Belfast has seen transformation once the fifth greatest industrial city in the world the home of the S S Titanic it has more recently been a battleground of sectarian slaughter To conjure up the lives lived there Carson plunges down the wormhole of memory admiring along the way the strata and roots beneath the surface Though it has experienced more than its share of urban decay the Star Factory of the title is an abandoned mill Carson s Belfast teems with stories stories that can spring from a telephone directory a cigarette case a postcard a book about tramways a stamp

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1995

Writings on Irish History, 1993 & 1994 Sarah Ward-Perkins,1999

The Current Debate about the Irish Literary Canon Helen Thompson,2006 Intended as a response to the publication The Field Day Anthology of Irish Writing in 1991 this collection of essays examines the canonical status of writers such as Joyce Yeats and Beckett how postcolonial theory and criticism have reshaped the boundaries of Irish Studies and how women s writing has challenged canonicity as a concept
