Enhancing Quality in Higher Education Ray Land, George Gordon, 2013-06-19 Interest in the quality of higher education provision has been steadily increasing over the last twenty years This has been driven largely by the international creation of explicit policies and reporting requirements to review audit and evaluate provision The interest is associated in many countries with the granting by governments of greater autonomy to higher education institutions This crucially comes bound with increased requirements for accountability in the exercise of such power Enhancing provision promoting innovation cultivating exploration and adopting information led approaches to practice are at the very heart of higher education As such quality enhancement comes in many guises and is under constant scrutiny Enhancing Quality in Higher Education looks critically at recent developments in higher education taking snapshots of changing practices around the world and analysing the varied theoretical perspectives of quality enhancement that are emerging The opening section draws upon this theoretical base whilst the second section contextualises it through the analysis of a diverse range of international case studies The concluding section considers future prospects for the enhancement agenda in the light of the international pressures facing all systems of higher education in the future Policy will inevitably be shaped by the historical contexts within which national systems are located The book draws on a wide range of international case studies examined by a host of contributing experts The movement towards quality enhancement can be seen as stimulating action at the grassroots of the academy to self generate improvement It is a counter to the prevalent view that change in higher education is essentially about the institutional response to increasing societal pressure and state control and as such is a welcome contribution to the literature This comprehensive volume is essential reading for anyone involved in higher education and educational policy

Freeman, 2023-01-27 This volume is the fully revised and updated version of the first comprehensive commentary on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and its Optional Protocol It reflects the developments during the decade following the publication of the first edition in 2012 which has also seen a notable rise in individual complaints more than 85 ten new General Recommendations and six new inquiry procedures as well as numerous statements partly in conjunction with other UN human rights bodies The Convention is a key international human rights instrument and the only one exclusively addressed to women It has been described as the United Nations landmark treaty in the struggle for women s rights At a time when the backlash against women s human rights and the concept of gender based discrimination is increasingly challenged by governments and powerful societal actors the Commentary is an important instrument to hold all state powers to account on their international obligations under the Convention The Commentary analyses the interpretation of the Convention through the work of its monitoring body the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women It comprises detailed analyses of the Preamble and each article of the Convention and of the Optional Protocol including a separate chapter on the cross cutting substantive issue of violence against women The sources relied on are the treaty language and the general recommendations concluding observations and case law under the Optional Protocol individual complaints and inquiries through which the Committee has interpreted and applied the Convention Each chapter is self contained but the Commentary is conceived of as an integral whole The book also includes an introduction which provides an overview of the Convention and its embedding in the international law of human rights as well as the most recent challenges to women s human rights worldwide

Homogeneous Relativistic Cosmologies Michael P. Ryan, Lawrence C. Shepley, 2015-03-08 Addressing a variety of theoretical cosmological problems and emphasizing a mathematical approach this volume nicely complements Peebles Physical Cosmology Princeton Series in Physics 1971 Ryan and Shepley have concentrated on the structure of models of the universe By using a modern terminology that emphasizes the operator nature of vectors and tensors as opposed to their components in a particular coordinate system the authors develop modern tensor analysis to the point where it can be applied to general relativistic cosmology They then use it to describe homogeneous cosmologies in considerable detail Both students and researchers are likely to find these techniques especially useful Among their subjects are spaces with groups of motions singularities Taub NUT Misner space Bianchitype models Hamiltonian cosmology and perturbations in anisotropic models A brief section on observations is also included as is a complete bibliography A final section presents graded exercises that underscore the potential yet unrealized in this area of study Originally published in 1975 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
