THE WORKING CLASS GOES TO WARWho fought the war?

Most soldiers who fought in Vietnam were called into combat under the country's Selective Service System, or draft. Because the war was growing unpopular, thousands of men tried to avoid the draft. Some men sought out doctors who would give them medical exemptions. Others moved to a different community where there was a more lenient draft board. Some joined the National Guard or Coast Guard to avoid combat.

One of the most common ways to avoid the draft was to attend college. Most men enrolled in a university could put off their military service.

Many university students during the 1960s were white and financially well-off. As a result, a large number who fought in Vietnam were lower-class whites or minorities. Nearly 80 percent of American soldiers came from lower economic levels. Thus, Vietnam was known as a working-class war.

Early on, a high number of African Americans served and died in Vietnam. During the first several years of the war, 20 percent of American soldiers killed were black. Blacks, however, made up only about 10 percent of the U.S. population. This situation prompted protests from many civil rights leaders, including Martin Luther King Jr. Many African American soldiers also endured racism within their units.

The U.S. military in the 1960s did not allow women to serve in combat.

Harriss, 2005 The Black Death The Peasants Revolt The Hundred Years War The War of the Roses A succession of dramatic social and political events reshaped England in the period 1360 to 1461 In his lucid and penetrating account of this formative period Gerald Harriss draws on the research of the last thirty years to illuminate late medieval society at its peak from the triumphalism of Edward III in 1360 to the collapse of Lancastrian rule The political narrative centers on the deposition of Richard II in 1399 and the establishment of the House of Lancaster which was in turn overthrown in the Wars of the Roses Abroad Henry V s heroic victory at Agincourt in 1415 led to the English conquest of northern France lasting until 1450 Both produced long term consequences the first shaped the English constitution up to the Stuart civil war while the second generated lasting hostility between England and France and a residual wariness of military intervention in Europe
