Crafting a Collection Anna Shields, 2020-03-23 Compiled in 940 at the court of the kingdom of Shu the Huajian ji is the earliest extant collection of song lyrics by literati poets The collection has traditionally been studied as the precursor to the lyrics of the Song dynasty or in terms of what it contributed to the later development of the genre But scholars have rarely examined the work as an anthology and have more often focused on the work of individual poets and their respective contributions to the genre In this book Anna Shields examines the influence of court culture on the creation of the anthology and the significance of imitation and convention in its lyrics Shields suggests that by considering the Huajian ji only in terms of its contributions to a later model we unnecessarily limit ourselves to a single literary form and risk overlooking the broader influence of Tang culture on the Huajian ji By illuminating the historical and literary contexts of the anthology the author aims to situate the Huajian ji within larger questions of Chinese literary history particularly the influence of cultural forces on the emergence of genres and the development of romantic literature Studies in the Lyric Poems of Friedrich Hebbel Albert Edward Gubelmann,1912 Paul Muldoon and the Language of Poetry Ruben Moi,2020-01-13 Paul Muldoon and the Language of Poetry is the first book in years that attends to the entire oeuvre of the Irish American poet critic lyricist dramatist and Princeton professor from his debut with New Weather in 1973 up to his very recent publications Ruben Moi s book explores in correspondence with language philosophy and critical debate how Muldoon s ingenious language and inventive form give shape and significance to his poetry and how his linguistic panache and technical verve keep language forever surprising new and alive The Bards of Bon-Accord, 1375-1860 William Walker,1887 Hotel for the Lost Suzanne Young,2016-10-04 On the way to spend a summer with her grandmother after the sudden death of her mother seventeen year old Audrey her older brother Daniel and their father happen upon the Hotel Ruby a luxurious place filled with unusual guests and little chance of ever leaving
