Building Envelopes An Integrated Approach Architecture Briefs:

Building Envelopes Jenny Lovel, 2013-07-02 Few parts of a building work harder than its envelope also known as its facade The envelope is the part of the building most visible from the outside so it should be visually appealing but it can also have the biggest effect on the well being and safety of its occupants so the envelope should help heat and cool the building allow light into it and provide necessary structure Too often a building's envelope is more aesthetically striking than functional or vice versa A great building envelope though architecturally integrates all of its elements

Technology of the Multi-Layer Façade Systems Ingrid Paoletti, Massimiliano Natri, 2025-08-29 The book explores the design production and construction processes of the multi layer facade systems towards the principles of environmental and energy sustainability through the drafting of an explanatory and operative reference instrument The work provides the planning of a technical guide focusing on the executive design and construction methodologies The scientific basis of the research implies the definition of the main functional typologies established on the analysis conducted on the experimental case studies with the aim of achieving a codification of the performance and executive potentialities The development of the book as a technical guide on the multi layer facade systems involves the possibilities of technology transfer towards different building types and intended uses with the aim of increasing hygro thermal lighting and acoustic performance through the application of technical skins devices and integrated screens on the external enclosures Moreover the book explains the modes of technology transfer through the use of standard and non customized products so as to improve the diffusion in the production and construction of mass produced systems and components

Smart Architecture - A Sustainable Approach for Transparent Building Components Design Valentina Frighi, 2021-08-25 This book explores the specific role that glazing technologies play within the world of smart architecture as important components of contemporary and future sustainable architectural and technological research Smart Architecture begins with a definition of the concept of smart in architecture and examines how innovative technologies and materials have shaped buildings over the years The author then provides a supporting database of contemporary smart architecture mapping adopted strategies recognizing common patterns and evaluating current and future trends in the context of smart building envelopes energy efficiency and the development of high potential innovative building components The book proceeds with a focus on the specific role that glazing technologies play in this framework and provides a systematic methodology to quantify options for the effective integration of transparent building components within advanced and innovative building envelope systems Construction

Material Balance Ingrid Paoletti, Massimiliano Nistri, 2020-09-30 This book argues that we are living in an era of deep mutation and the anthropocentric model no longer fits our way of living and behaving on Earth Climate change is upsetting our relationship with nature and the environment while artificial intelligence scenarios undermine the foundations of human life As the pressure to re-align based on new modes of living and consuming increases the first priority should be to address the way we imagine design produce and construct our built environment The highly original book explores how the relation between design technology and material cultures can underpin and drive this change It discusses the need for a new material balance to develop our design practice not only from an energy and environmental perspective but also from a physiological cultural and semantic one in order to re-balance the impact of material design on society This publication is an excellent guide to understanding in detail the theoretical framing of several crucial topics in material balance design from computational knitting to material agency and from new acoustic ecology to future faade technologies bio-based design and ultimately non-anthropocentric habitats offering insights into preferable future scenarios
