ATLS, Advanced Trauma Life Support for Doctors ,2008-01-01 Trauma Operative Procedures G. Berlot,H. Delooz,A. Gullo,2012-12-06 Trauma has assumed a prominent role in contemporary medicine as an event that can significantly influence clinical variables such as morbidity functional deficits and consequential disability and mortality Trauma is the principal cause of death in the population below 40 years of age in industrialized countries Therefore there is great interest in studying traumatic events from both the clinical and epidemiological viewpoints The importance of trauma is exemplified by the fact that in many countries the trauma patient is first treated in specialized trauma centers in which the diagnostic and treatment processes are facilitated by the 24 hour presence of personnel having interdisciplinary competencies Trauma in this context consists of any acute often unexpected condition Many of the medical difficulties associated with trauma occur in a relatively brief period that spans from the first call for help to the initiation of first aid measures A correct approach depends on the availability of experienced personnel The first measures of aid must guarantee above all the patient's survival The most critical initial phases of care to trauma patients are represented by the triad first aid triage and transport Specific morbidity indices whether anatomical functional or mixed are indispensable elements for monitoring a patient's clinical evolution The immediate availability of essential drugs is imperative to confront the clinical situations that often present in the acute post traumatic phase ATLS, Advanced Trauma Life Support Program for Doctors American College of Surgeons,2004-01-01 Course manual provides a safe reliable method for immediate management of an injured patient Content and skills presented in the course are designed to assist doctors in providing emergency care for trauma patients Essential information is provided for identification and treatment of life threatening or potentially life threatening injuries under extreme pressure of time Advanced Trauma Life Support ,1994 Trauma Lewis M. USAF Medical Service Digest ,1984 Updates in Emergency Medicine John Cahill,2012-12-06 Since the beginning of mankind medical emergencies have existed However only in the last several decades has the specialty of emergency medicine developed The United States and the United Kingdom were probably the first to recognize the need for a physician to be properly trained in this discipline It quickly became evident that many lives could be saved by physicians trained in this art Now is an exciting time for the field as more and more countries have recognized this and are developing training programs in emergency medicine This book is based upon a course in emergency medicine that was held in Ireland in the fall of 2001 and on several other lectures given that year The course was held at the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland and was a joint effort of faculty comprised from the Brown University program in Emergency Medicine Providence Rhode Island and Beaumont Hospital Dublin Ireland The goals of the course were to introduce the basic principles and practice of emergency medicine to present some cutting edge topics and to help encourage an interest in developing an academic training program in emergency medicine in Ireland I hope that this collection of papers will be enjoyed by medical students residents attending physicians and by all who pursue an interest in emergency medicine It is not intended to be a comprehensive text on emergency medicine The purpose is to present some pertinent topics and observations from experienced physicians in a scientific and evidence based fashion Pediatric Trauma Care II AHC Media, LLC,2014-03-17 Pediatric trauma continues to have a significant impact on the health and well being of children in the United States Trauma continues to be the leading cause of death in children 1 to 18 years of age and accounted for more than 14 000 deaths among all children 0 to 18 years of age In 2008 there were more than 8 6 million nonfatal injuries among newborn to 18 year olds with an injury rate of greater than 1 in 10 There is little debate that a coordinated effort and pediatric specific advances in pediatric trauma systems prehospital care and hospital care and injury prevention can have a positive impact on pediatric trauma outcomes in the United States However there are still gaps in access to centers that deliver pediatric focused trauma care especially in rural areas Furthermore there are differing views between different centers regarding the optimal approach to the initial evaluation and management of the pediatric trauma patient This book is targeted to review critical aspects of the care of the pediatric trauma patient highlighting the most common and critical injuries encountered in the acute care setting
