Alevis And Alevism Transformed Identities:

Alevis and Alevism Hege Irene Markussen, 2005 Alevism as an Ethno-Religious Identity Celia Jenkins, Suavi Aydin, Umit Cetin, 2019-10-23 Until recently the importance of religion in the modern world has often been underestimated in Western societies whereas its significance is absolutely crucial in the Middle East Religion is critical to a sense of belonging for communities and nations and can be a force for unity or division This is the case for the Alevis an ethnic and religious community that constitutes approximately 20% of the Turkish population its second largest religious group In the current crisis in the Middle East the heightened religious tensions between Sunnis Shias and Alawites raise questions about who the Alevis are and where they stand in this conflict With an ambiguous relationship to Islam historically Alevis have been treated as a suspect community in Turkey and recently whilst distinct from Alawites have sympathised with the Assad regime s secular orientation The chapters in this book analyse different aspects of Alevi identity in relation to religion politics culture education and national identity drawing on specialist research in the field The approach is interdisciplinary and contributes to wider debates concerning ethnicity religion migration and trans national identity within and across ethno religious boundaries The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the National Identities journal Alevi Identity Tord Olsson, Elisabeth Ozdalga, Catharina Raudvere, 2005-09-30 Alawites cultural religious and social perspectives The Changing Leadership Roles of »Dedes« in the Alevi Movement Deniz Cosan Eke, 2021-11-05 What is the function of clerical leadership in Alevism based on sociocultural and political understandings To answer that complex question Deniz Cosan Eke examines the political cultural and religious debates surrounding Alevis and the Alevi movement in relation to the ideas and claims of the Turkish state Alevi communities in Turkey and migrant Alevi communities in Germany The book which focuses on the emergence of collective emotions in religious rituals the struggle of religious groups in migration processes and the leadership role of clergy in social movements is of great interest to a wide readership The ^AOxford Handbook of Turkish Politics Günes Murat Tezcür, 2022-02-04 The Oxford Handbook of Turkish Politics includes in depth analyses of a wide range of issues in conversation with the broader scholarly literature on authoritarianism and democratization political economy electoral politics politics of identity social movements foreign policy and the politics of art With contributions by leading experts the Handbook is an authoritative source offering state of the art reviews of the scholarship on Turkish politics The volume is an analytical comprehensive and comparative overview of contemporary politics in a country that literally and figuratively epitomizes being at the crossroads The Alevis in Turkey and Europe Elise Massicard, 2013 This book examines the development of identity politics amongst the Alevis in Europe and Turkey which simultaneously provided the movement access to different resources and challenged its unity of action While some argue that Aleviness is a religious phenomenon and others claim it is a cultural or a political trend this book analyzes the various strategies of claim making and reconstructions of Aleviness as well as responses to the movement by various Turkish and German actors Drawing on intensive fieldwork Elise Massicard suggests that because of activists many different definitions of Aleviness the movement is in this sense an identity movement without an identity Alevis in Europe Tözün Issa, 2016-07-22 The Alevis are a significant minority in Turkey and now also in the countries of Western Europe Over the past century many of them have migrated from rural enclaves on the Anatolian plateau to the great cities of Istanbul and Ankara and from there to the countries of the European Union This book asks who are they How do they construct their identities now and in the past in Turkey and in Europe A range of scholars writing from sociological historical socio psychological and political perspectives present analysis and research that shows the Alevi communities grouping and regrouping defining and redefining sometimes as an ethnic minority sometimes as religious groups sometimes around a political philosophy contingently responding to circumstances of the Turkish Republic's political position and to the immigration policies of Western Europe Contributors consider Alevi roots and cultural practices in their villages of origin the changes in identity following the migration to the gecekondu shanty towns surrounding the cities of Turkey the changes consequent on their second diaspora to Germany the UK Sweden and other European countries and the implications of European citizenship for their identity This collection offers a new and significant contribution to the study of migration and minorities in the wider European context Effects of Alevi-Sunni Marriages on Children's Religious Education and Family Relations Dr. Fatma Kurttekin, 2024-12-31 In this study the views of parents in Alevi Sunni marriages on the phenomenon of religion and their children's religious education are examined While there has been a growing body of research on the role and significance of religion in Alevi Sunni families limited attention has been paid to their attitudes towards their children's religious education particularly within the context of cross religious marriages Based on this this study aims to fill this research gap by examining the perspectives of parents in Alevi Sunni marriages on their children's religious education and family dynamics using qualitative methods to provide in depth insights Ten families living in Sivas Ankara and Tunceli who were contacted through snowball and purposive sampling participated in the study in which qualitative research techniques were used The data used in the study were collected through questionnaires and semi structured interview forms The data was analyzed with the content analysis It was determined that the Alevi Sunni difference did not have a significant impact on the participants religious attitudes or their children's religious education Almost all parents stated that they wanted their children to choose their own path by acquiring experience and knowledge about both religious interpretations understandings The study identified two primary areas of difficulty in Alevi Sunni families familial opposition to the participants decision to marry and conflicts surrounding the children's religious education These tensions may stem from societal pressures to conform to sectarian norms and the fear of losing religious identity through cross mixed intrafaith marriages Such pressures highlight the need for open dialogue and acceptance within families which many participants reported as key to resolving conflicts The provision of religious education in the family and the religious identity of children have been discussed in a separate study Therefore in this study participants views on compulsory religious education activities which are also a subject of debate in society were evaluated In parallel with the findings in the literature the participants opinions were grouped in three categories namely abolishing the courses making the courses optional and improving the courses along with preserving their compulsory status Following the interviews it was seen that the participants could have arguments mostly due to external factors and that their own religious understanding did not have any impact on family life religious attitudes or child rearing Attention was drawn to the need for freedom from prejudices acceptance of the other as he she is honesty trust and a communicative environment of dialogue in order to reduce the tension in these two areas

Negotiating Identities, Language and Migration in Global London Cangbai Wang, Terry Lamb, 2024-01-16 This book explores the transnational practices of migrant groups in global London illustrating the complex relations between migrants and the city in the context of globalisation The chapters offer a starting point to examine migrants and the city from a comparative perspective by bringing together case studies of diverse migrant communities They use languaging as the central concept in the development of an interdisciplinary framework that creates an opportunity to talk across disciplines to engage with key issues crisscrossing migration cities and language The book promotes language based or language sensitive research drawing on the plurilingual repertoires and the language and translanguaging practices of migrant communities as the tool for data collection and ethnographic fieldwork This approach generates fresh insights into the complex issues of diasporic identities belonging and place making which have broad implications for migration studies in post Brexit Britain and beyond
