Americas New Industry Silk Growing:

Making and Growing Elizabeth Hallam, Tim Ingold, 2016-05-13 Making and Growing brings together the latest work in the fields of anthropology and material culture studies to explore the differences and the relation between making things and growing things and between things that are made and things that grow Though the former are often regarded as artefacts and the latter as organisms the book calls this distinction into question examining the implications for our understanding of materials design and creativity Grounding their arguments in case studies from different regions and historical periods the contributors to this volume show how making and growing give rise to co produced and mutually modifying organisms and artefacts including human persons They attend to the properties of materials and to the forms of knowledge and sensory experience involved in these processes and explore the dynamics of making and undoing growing and decomposition The book will be of broad interest to scholars in the fields of anthropology archaeology material culture studies history and sociology

The American Exporter, 1918 The Industrial Structure of American Cities Gunnar Alexandersson, 2015-04-10 This book analyzes the distribution of the urban population in an industrialized country The USA was chosen as the object of the study because it had at the time of writing in 1956 the largest population for which homogeneous and comparable statistics were available The first step in the quantitative analysis of population distribution according to the method suggested here is the breaking up of the total population into its components the industries in which people earn their living Extensive maps support the text as it discusses the problem of industrial location which has attracted much attention from geographers and economists Harper's New Monthly Magazine, 1885 HARPER'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE, 1885 Scientific American, 1916 Millard's Review of the Far East, 1927 Vol 34 includes Special tariff conference issue Nov 6 1925 The Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association American Iron and Steel Association, 1885 Agriculture in the Americas, 1945 America's Textile Reporter, 1903
