Ronald Cedric White

Abraham Lincoln's First Inaugural Address:

Abraham Lincoln's First Inaugural Address Abraham Lincoln, 2020-03-16 In his First Inaugural Address delivered on March 4 1861 Abraham Lincoln crafted a poignant and masterful oration that powerfully encapsulated the turbulent state of the Union on the brink of civil war Employing a blend of rhetorical elegance and accessible language Lincoln sought to bridge the chasm between North and South emphasizing themes of unity reconciliation and the enduring principles of democracy The address is contextualized within the growing sectional tensions of the 19th century as Lincoln highlights both the historical significance of the nation's founding and the complexities of his presidency amid imminent conflict Abraham Lincoln 1809 1865 a self-taught lawyer and a figure of national prominence rose from humble beginnings to become one of America's most revered presidents His formative years in the frontier and exposure to the nation's political landscape profoundly influenced his views on democracy and governance Lincoln's deep commitment to preserving the Union was paramount during this era of division and strife and his First Inaugural Address reflects his profound sense of responsibility in guiding a fractured nation This critical work is highly recommended for readers seeking to understand the nuanced political landscape of early 1860s America Lincoln's First Inaugural Address not only serves as a historical document but also offers timeless insights into the power of language leadership and the enduring pursuit of national unity Abraham

Lincoln's First Inaugural Address Abraham Lincoln, 2017-08-03 How is this book unique Font adjustments second his argument that the Union was undissolvable and thus that secession was impossible and third a promise that while he would never be the first to attack any use of arms against the United States would be regarded as rebellion and met with force The inauguration took place on the eve of the American Civil War which began soon after with the Confederate attack on Fort Sumter Lincoln was chosen to be the Republican candidate in the 1860 presidential election which he won on November 6 with 180 electoral votes Between this time and his inauguration on March 4 seven Deep South cotton states South Carolina Mississippi Georgia Florida Alabama Louisiana and Texas would secede from the Union Lincoln's predecessor James Buchanan had deplored secession as illegal but had insisted that the Federal government could do nothing to stop it The entire nation together with several interested foreign powers awaited the President-elect's words on what exactly his policy toward the new Confederacy would be Lincoln's speech was an effort to answer this question as well as an attempt to reach out to what he called his dissatisfied fellow countrymen in an effort to avoid the coming conflict He had held to a strict policy of silence during the months leading up to his inauguration carefully avoiding making any statements that could be misconstrued by either North or South prior to becoming the legal leader of the nation Lincoln's intention was that no statement of his specific policy toward the South should be made available before he had taken office Those privy to the speech's possible contents were sworn to silence and Lincoln's draft was kept locked in the safe of the Illinois State Journal newspaper Abraham Lincoln's First Inaugural Address Abraham Lincoln, 2018-03-25 Abraham Lincoln's First Inaugural

Address by Abraham Lincoln Abraham Lincoln's first inaugural address was delivered on Monday March 4 1861 as part of his taking of the oath of office for his first term as the sixteenth President of the United States The speech was primarily addressed to the people of the South and was intended to succinctly state Lincoln's intended policies and desires toward that section where seven states had seceded from the Union and formed the Confederate States of America Written in a spirit of reconciliation toward the seceded states Lincoln's inaugural address touched on several topics first his pledge to hold occupy and possess the property and places belonging to the government including Fort Sumter which was still in Federal hands second his argument that the Union was undissolvable and thus that secession was impossible and third a promise that while he would never be the first to attack any use of arms against the United States would be regarded as rebellion and met with force The inauguration took place on the eve of the American Civil War which began soon after with the Confederate attack on Fort Sumter Lincoln denounced secession as anarchy and explained that majority rule had to be balanced by constitutional restraints in the American system of republicanism A majority held in restraint by constitutional checks and limitations and always changing easily with deliberate changes of popular opinions and sentiments is the only true sovereign of a free people 1 Desperately wishing to avoid this terrible conflict Lincoln ended with this impassioned plea I am loath to close We are not enemies but friends We must not be enemies Though passion may have strained it must not break our bonds of affection Author Abraham Lincoln February 12 1809 April 15 1865 was an American statesman and lawyer who served as the 16th President of the United States from March 1861 until his assassination in April 1865 Lincoln led the United States through its Civil War its bloodiest war and perhaps its greatest moral constitutional and political crisis In doing so he preserved the Union abolished slavery strengthened the federal government and modernized the economy Born in Hodgenville Kentucky Lincoln grew up on the western frontier in Kentucky and Indiana Largely self educated he became a lawyer in Illinois a Whig Party leader and was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives in which he served for eight years Elected to the United States House of Representatives in 1846 Lincoln promoted rapid modernization of the economy and opposed the Mexican American War After a single term he returned to Illinois and resumed his successful law practice Reentering politics in 1854 he became a leader in building the new Republican Party which had a statewide majority in Illinois As part of the 1858 campaign for US Senator from Illinois Lincoln took part in a series of highly publicized debates with his opponent and rival Democrat Stephen A Douglas Lincoln spoke out against the expansion of slavery but lost the race to Douglas In 1860 Lincoln secured the Republican Party presidential nomination as a moderate from a swing state though most delegates originally favored other candidates Though he gained very little support in the slaveholding states of the South he swept the North and was elected president in 1860 Though there were attempts to bridge the differences between North and South ultimately Lincoln's victory prompted seven southern slave states to secede from the United States and form the Confederate States of America before he moved into the White House
