Democratic Institutions and Authoritarian Rule in Southeast Europe Danijela Dolenec, 2017-05-19 Josip Broz Tito s saying that one should not hold on to the law like a drunken man holds on to a fence remains a valid piece of popular wisdom today encapsulating the problem of weak rule of law in Southeast European societies This book poses the question of why democratisation in Southeast Europe disappointed initial expectations and claims that it is caused by the dominance of authoritarian parties over regime change Their rule established nondemocratic governance practices that continue to subvert rule of law principles more than twenty years after the collapse of communism The unique contribution of this book is in providing empirical evidence for the argument that post socialist transformation proceeded in a double movement whereby advances to formal democratic institutions were subverted through nondemocratic rule This misfit helps explain why improvements to formal democratic institutions did not result in expected democratisation advances

Ahlers, Damien Krichewsky, Evelyn Moser, Rudolf Stichweh, 2021-03-05 This book is about the radical novelty of modern polities in a functionally differentiated world society Premodern states were at the apex of a stratified hierarchical society They dominated society and all its groups and strata Modern polities have to be understood through the ecology of relations among different function systems They have to find and incessantly redefine their place in society They produce decisions that are collectively binding but in preparing these decisions experience constraints and knowledge deficiencies that are related to the complexity of a functionally differentiated society The book concentrates on six analytical perspectives that reflect how modern polities are embedded into 21st century society These perspectives are the concept of inclusion and the inclusion revolution constitutive of modern polities the internal differentiation of polities that endows them with an unprecedented complexity the fact that polities do not know anything about society and the ways in which they compensate for this representation and responsiveness as strategies to reconnect with society the self restriction of some polities that
