Augustine and the Environment John Doody, Kim Paffenroth, Mark Smillie, 2016-09-30 This volume brings into dialogue the ancient wisdom of Augustine of Hippo a bishop of the early Christian Church of the fourth and fifth centuries with contemporary theologians and ethicists on the topic of the environment and humanity's place in and responsibility to it The contributors vary widely in their estimation of how sustained and useful such a dialogue might be from outright dismissal of the church father to extended speculation with him and in his spirit Their conclusions impact our views of God and both human and non human creation Such engagement should influence any future discussion of how Christianity and environmentalism can interact or influence one another Sonia Kovalevsky, biography and autobiography. i. Narrative and Consciousness Gary D. Fireman, Ted E. McVay, Owen J. Flanagan, 2003-06-12 We define our conscious experience by constructing narratives about ourselves and the people with whom we interact Narrative pervades our lives conscious experience is not merely linked to the number and variety of personal stories we construct with each other within a cultural frame but is subsumed by them. The claim, however, that narrative constructions are essential to conscious experience is not useful or informative unless we can also begin to provide a distinct, organized and empirically consistent explanation for narrative in relation to consciousness. Understanding the role of narrative in determining individual and collective consciousness has been elusive from within traditional academic frameworks. This volume argues that addressing so broad and complex a problem requires an examination from outside our insular disciplinary framework. Such an open examination would be informed by the inquiries and approaches of multiple disciplines. Recognition of the different approaches to examining personal stories will allow for the coordination of how narrative seems its phenomenology with what mental labor it does its psychology and how it is realized its neurobiology. Only by overcoming the boundaries erected by multiple theoretical and discursive traditions can we begin to comprehend the nature and function of narrative in consciousness.

Narrative and Consciousness brings together essays by exceptional scholars and scientists in the disciplines of literary theory, psychology and neuroscience to examine how stories are constructed, how stories structure lived experience and how stories are rooted in material reality, the human body. The specific topics addressed include narrative in the development of conscious awareness, autobiographical narrative, fiction and the construction of self, trauma and narrative disruptions, narrative memory and identity and the physiological and neural substrate of narrative. It is the editors' hope that the multidisciplinary nature of this collection will challenge the reader to move beyond disciplinary confines and toward a coherent interdisciplinary dialogue.

Cultural Visions: Essays in the History of Culture, 2022-03-07. This collection opens with an inquiry into the assumptions and methods of the historical study of culture, comparing the new cultural history with the old. Thirteen essays follow, each defining a problem within a particular culture. In the first section, Biography and Autobiography, three scholars explore historically changing types of self-conception, each reflecting larger cultural meanings. Essays included examine Italian Renaissance biographers and the autobiographies of Benjamin Franklin and Mohandas Gandhi. A second group of contributors explores problems raised by the writing of history itself, especially as it relates to a notion of culture. Here examples are drawn from the writings of Thucydides, Jacob Burckhardt and the art historians Alois Riegl and Josef Strzygowski. In the third section, Politics, Nationalism and Culture, the essays explore relationships between cultural creativity and national identity, with case studies focusing on the Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I, the place of Castile within the national history of Spain and the impact of World War I on the work of Thomas Mann. The final section, Cultural Translation, raises the complex questions of cultural influence and the transmission of traditions over time through studies of Philo of Alexandria's interpretation of the Hebrew Bible, Erasmus' use of Socrates, Jean Bodin's conception of Roman law and adaptations of the Hebrew Bible for American children.

Blessed Are the Consumers, Sallie McFague, 2013-01-01. For decades Sallie McFague has lent her voice and her theological imagination to addressing and advocating for the most important issues of our time In doing so she has influenced an entire generation and empowered countless people in their efforts to put religion in the service of meeting human needs in difficult times In this timely book McFague recalls her readers to the practices of restraint In a world bent on consumption it is imperative that people of religious faith realize the significant role they play in advocating for the earth and a more humane life for all The root of restraint she argues rests in the ancient Christian notion of Kenosis or self emptying By introducing Kenosis through the life stories of John Woolman Simone Weil and Dorothy Day McFague brings a powerful theological concept to bear in a winsome and readable way
