Learning Targets will describe what being able to do something means for students, instead of objectives that state what students should know. Learning Targets are designed to be student-centered, and they are written in a way that students can understand them. Learning Targets are also designed to be measurable, so that students can know when they have achieved them. Learning Targets are also designed to be specific, so that students can know exactly what they are expected to do. Learning Targets are also designed to be challenging, so that students can be pushed to learn and grow. Learning Targets are also designed to be relevant, so that students can see the value in what they are learning. Learning Targets are also designed to be achievable, so that students can feel confident that they can succeed. Learning Targets are also designed to be flexible, so that they can be adapted to meet the needs of individual students. Learning Targets are also designed to be transparent, so that students can see how they are being assessed. Learning Targets are also designed to be collaborative, so that students can work together to learn and grow. Learning Targets are also designed to be reflective, so that students can think about their own learning and how they can improve. Learning Targets are also designed to be formative, so that they can be used to provide feedback to students. Learning Targets are also designed to be summative, so that they can be used to assess student learning. Learning Targets are also designed to be ongoing, so that they can be used throughout the course. Learning Targets are also designed to be specific, so that they can be used to measure student learning.
