changing Each image is always connected to an assemblage of affects and forces This book presents a model as well as many concrete examples of how to work with Deleuze in film theory It asks questions about the universe as metacinema subjectivity violence feminism monstrosity and music Among the contemporary films it discusses within a Deleuzian framework are Strange Days Fight Club and Dancer in the Dark The Films of Krzysztof Kieslowski Joseph Kickasola,2004-06-22 Perhaps the greatest European director of the last 30 years Krzysztof Kieslowski created a remarkable body of work in a relatively short period of time His films are loved around the world for their dramatic power and consummate artistry Kieslowski's cinematic style stands apart in several important respects his mastery of abstract imagery his innovative use of sound and his deliberate circumvention of standard cinematic codes Unlike many other art directors who often fail to rise above commentary on the medium itself Kieslowski uses these stylistic liberties to explore his philosophical concerns fate God suffering and love Through close analysis of films like The Decalogue The Double Life of Veronique Blue White and Red Joe Kickasola identifies the unique qualities and artistic legacy of this great director

Stardom and the Aesthetics of Neorealism Ora Gelley,2012-08-21 In this exciting new book Gelley considers the collaboration between Rossellini and Ingrid Bergman in light of the neorealist aesthetic This study re-examines the director's postwar works in relation to the contemporary discussion on Italian national identity rather than marking a radical break with the director's early neorealist successes Rossellini's films with Bergman in fact extend the boundaries of neorealism and challenge the standard reading of its basic tenets especially the relationship between character and setting Gelley reassesses the relationship between European postwar and American cinema looking at how the image of the Hollywood star was translated and transformed when it was imported into Rossellini's Italy Rossellini's insertion of the Hollywood star into the native landscape had a significant influence on the director's approach to the neorealist aesthetic His filming of the encounter between Bergman and the Italian landscape involves not only a re-interpretation and transformation of the Hollywood star persona but also a challenge to the idealized notion of an authentic Italian national collective free of foreign influence The disruption of Bergman's character into the Italian landscape became one means whereby the director was able to explore the ambivalence inherent in any attempt to construct a national identity Image, Time and Motion Andreas
