Aggression Control Teaching The Out:

K9 Aggression Control Stephen A. Mackenzie, 2017-10-16 Includes a new chapter on indicating without biting. Aggression control training requires dogs to think while they are excited and under stress which is no easy task. Dr. Stephen A. Mackenzie has been teaching and using non-compulsive methods for aggression control training for more than 30 years. His techniques have worked for hundreds of dogs and have been used and adapted by many skilled trainers and decoys for their individual circumstances. K9 Aggression Control provides a flexible approach to aggression control that is rooted in obedience training. You may be someone who uses a muzzle, sees a role for toys and games, and works with a decoy who likes to drop the sleeve or you might not want a muzzle, toy, or dropped sleeve anywhere near your dog. Either way, this book has options for you. It details techniques and variations so you can choose the options you prefer. Dr. Mackenzie also gives decoys sound advice on controlling a dog's excitement level, working with handlers, and making the best use of equipment. A new chapter in this revised and updated edition shows you how to train dogs to indicate a person's location without biting, essential for the search and rescue trainer and a real plus for modern police forces looking for ways to reduce liability. Learn how to choose the right dog and training method. Train dogs that will out reliably in all situations. Solve common problems in aggression control training.

K9 Aggression Control Stephen Alexander Mackenzie, 2017 Drawing upon more than 30 years of pioneering efforts in the use of non-compulsive dog training techniques, Stephen A. Mackenzie describes approaches for teaching dogs to release the decoy, commonly called the out. He provides methods using a muzzle and self-out which do not require toys, as well as methods using toys and games so trainers can find useful techniques no matter what their preferences are. Mackenzie also provides advice for decoys on how to control excitement levels. This second edition revises and updates the first and includes a new chapter on indicating the location of a person without biting, which will interest search and rescue organizations as well as police departments looking for ways to lower their liability risks.

Aggression Control Stephen Alexander Mackenzie, 2009 Most K9 trainers are beginning to understand the advantages of non-compulsive training methods for teaching aggression control. When Stephen Mackenzie started his career training police service dogs, trainers relied on pain to teach dogs what was expected of them and motivation was limited to their love of biting on one hand and their desire to avoid painful consequences on the other. The idea that aggressive dogs could learn in non-compulsive ways was slow to take root but is now widely accepted. Mackenzie describes several different approaches for training dogs in aggression control and teaching them to release the decoy without using compulsion. He explains in detail the use of the muzzle, the self-out, and various toys and games so trainers can use the techniques they prefer. Advice for decoys on controlling the dog's excitement level and the use of equipment to help the trainer are also included.
