Home to countless species of marine wildlife, stunning natural scenery and water-class experiences, the Great Barrier Reef is a treasure that everyone should experience first-hand. Want to learn more about the Reef? Let's dive in...

The World's Largest & Most Extensive Coral Reef System

The Great Barrier Reef, which has made it the world's largest, stretches for 2,300 kilometres, extending from Bundaberg north to the tip of Cape York, and covers an area of 344,400 km².

A Rich Underwater World

The Great Barrier Reef is home to:

Fascinating Coral Reef Formations

Coral reefs have been growing in the Great Barrier Reef region for over 20 million years, however they did not form the large reef system that we can see today until about 10,000 years ago.

Coral reefs are formed when tiny animals called Coral Polyps extract minerals from the sea and build a hard skeleton. This forms the reef structure.

Zooxanthellae algae assist in the process. They live inside the coral's cells and provide it with food and energy.

Coral cays are formed when coral skeletons, algae and other reef organisms build up a hard structure. Over time the environment changes and a Coral cay is established.

About one third of the coral reef, the Great Barrier Reef support same form of vegetation.
