alive In his desperate state of mind haunted by his dying mothers pleas Frank hatches a plan standing on one side of the lake aiming across at the Bunsens backyard hell shoot Mr Bunsen as he sits in his lawn chair reading the Saturday morning newspaper He tells only one other person what hes going to do his little brother Not sure whether to believe it or not and afraid to tell anybody in any case Jim finds himself the only one with a chance of stopping the murder But while hes trying to keep this awful secret and also keep it from coming true Jim is finding out more than he ever wanted to know about the lake mainly from Grandma who is obligated to pass the story on to someone in the next generation In fact she passes on more than just information and lore she also hints at her growing suspicions that the familys relationship to the lake may not be as clean and pure and blissful as it seems She wants to tell Jim what shes thinking but he doesnt want to hear it At the same time though Jim hears about the lake from another source the daughter of the only Indian man in town both descendants of the tribe that was chased away after a fire that burned up Abe Woodsen in his cabin those many years ago She has heard a story from her own father who heard it from his she blames Jims family for her peoples plight and hints that Abe Woodsen wasnt killed by Indians after all At first Jim is annoyed even angry he doesnt want to know anything about that damned stupid lake that has caused his family so much heartache Gradually though he begins to think that the answer to stopping Frank may lie in finding out the truth about how his family came to own Woodsen Lake and why its such an obsession with them What he learns is what gives this novel its name The Planted Seed Dorothy Wyatt, 2005-05 The Planted Seed will reveal and share with the world the significance of living within an unmovable standard Honesty and standards do not make the headlines The moral fabric of our world declines when we mistreat one another This book will share the life of a man who made it a mission to listen to others care for a family and become civic minded Johnnie Rheaves stood for his principles through non violent leadership Share a journey of a lifetime with a man with an admirable lifestyle Walk down the rows of planted truths he nurtured into his children Picture the soft winds that blew across his face while he toiled on his farm Reap the harvest of his bounty through the words authored by one of his children Replant the seed inside of you honesty and integrity its value lasts for generations
