Bargaining For Peace Volume 2:

My Struggle for Peace, Volume 2 (1955) Moshe Sharett, 2019-03-19 The second volume of the former Israeli prime minister's journals from the nation's early years centering on his time in office My Struggle for Peace is a remarkable political document offering insights into the complex workings of the young Israeli political system set against the backdrop of the disintegration of the country's fragile armistice with the Arab states Replete with Moshe Sharett's candid comments on Israel's first generation leaders and world statesmen of the day the diary also tells the dramatic human story of a political career cut short the removal of an unusually sensitive dedicated and talented public servant My Struggle for Peace is above all an intimate record of the decline of Sharett's moderate approach and the rise of more activist militant trends in Israeli society culminating in the Suez Sinai war of 1956 The diary challenges the popular narrative that Israel's confrontation with its neighbors was unavoidable by offering daily evidence of Sharett's statesmanship moderation diplomacy and concern for Israel's place in international affairs This is the second volume in the 3 volume English abridgement of Sharett's Yoman Ishi Personal diary Ma'ariv 1978 maintains the integrity flavor and impact of the 8 volume Hebrew original and includes additional documentary material that was not accessible at the time The volumes are also available to purchase as a set or individually The editors vastly improved on the Hebrew version by adding Sharett's speeches reports cabinet minutes and other sources to the text These additions makes this work so important and welcome by all who aspire to understand the foreign and defense policies of Israel in its first decade Israel Studies Review

Justice and Fairness in International Negotiation Cecilia Albin, 2001-03-15 International negotiations have become an increasingly widespread feature of international affairs as the number of parties involved have grown and regional and global fora have multiplied Cecilia Albin examines the role of considerations of justice and fairness in these negotiations She argues that negotiators do not simply pursue their narrow interests or those of their countries but regularly take principles of justice and fairness into account These principles come into play at an early stage as talks are structured and agendas set in the bargaining process itself and in the implementation of and compliance with agreements The analysis is based on cases in four important areas the environment international trade ethnic conflict the Israeli Palestinian conflict and arms control Drawing on a mass of empirical data including a large number of interviews this book relates the abstract debate over international norms and ethics to the realities of international relations

Negotiating Peace Paul R. Pillar, 2014-07-14 This work draws on insights from the experimental and theoretical literature on bargaining to provide a much needed comprehensive treatment of the neglected subject of how wars end In a study of how states simultaneously wage war and negotiate peace settlements Paul R. Pillar argues that war termination is best understood as a bargaining process Originally published in 1983 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Gendered Peace Donna Pankhurst, 2012-07-26 This volume contributes to the growing literature on women conflict and peacebuilding by focusing on the moments after a peace accord or some other official ending of a conflict often denoted as post conflict or post war Such moments often herald great hope for holding to account those who committed grave wrongs during the conflict and for a better life in the future For many women both of these hopes are often very quickly shattered in starkly different ways to the hopes of men Such periods are often characterized by violence and insecurities and the official ending of a war often fails to bring freedom from sexual violence for many women Within such a context efforts on the part of women and those made on their behalf to hold to account those who commit crimes against them and to access their rights are difficult to make are often dangerous and are also often deployed with little effect Gendered Peace explores international contexts and a variety of local ones in which such struggles take place and evaluates their progress The volume highlights the surprising success in the development of international legal advances for women but contrasts this with the actual experience of women in cases from Sierra Leone Rwanda South Africa Afghanistan Bangladesh East Timor Peru Central America and the Balkans

Negotiating Peace in El Salvador Tricia Juhn, 2016-07-27 Set against the backdrop of the collapsing Cold War world this monograph draws on entirely new documentary evidence to chronicle almost two years worth of UN led peace talks to end the civil war in El Salvador Presented in moment to moment fashion hitherto private notes and interviews with the chief UN American and Salvadoran negotiators demonstrate that the key to enduring peace was to restructure relations between the country's powerful entrepreneurs and the armed forces

Using Carrots to Bring Peace? Martina KLIMESOVA, 2015-11-30 How can peace be brokered between warring sides in conflicts over self determination and what roles do external third parties play This book is the first of its kind to thoroughly explore the effectiveness of aid conditionality and other external tools that third parties from states and regional organizations to NGOs bring to the table in peace negotiations Surveying the existing academic debate on incentives and peace conditionality the author first identifies the gaps between theory and the needs of third party mediators and facilitators Analysing in depth the negotiation processes in Sri Lanka Eelam Indonesia Aceh and the Philippines Mindanao as case studies policy tools likely to be most effective are then identified and policy recommendations developed This book is an invaluable resource for students scholars and practitioners alike

Conflict Resolution and Status Céline Francis, 2011 The dispute between Georgia and Abkhazia is not a conflict of equals In international conflicts adversaries may differ de facto on the ground in terms of population territory and capability among other things As internationally recognized states however they have equal de jure status and fears that inviting the other side to the negotiating table might be construed as recognition for example rarely intrude The question of status does pose problems

however when a conflict is being fought between a recognized state and an unrecognized entity and these problems may contribute to increase the intractability of such conflicts This study explores how and to what extent the difference in status between a sovereign state and an unrecognized entity hinders conflict resolution activities Based on intensive fieldwork and unedited negotiation material the book provides an in depth analysis of the negotiations informal dialogues and grassroots activities that took place in Abkhazia and Georgia between 1989 and 2008 Negotiating Armenian-Azerbaijani Peace Ohannes Geukjian,2016-04-22 Conflict resolution conflict management and conflict transformations are major themes in this unique book which examines explores and analyses the mediation attempts of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe in the Nagorno Karabakh conflict Ohannes Geukjian shows the most striking characteristic of a protracted internal conflict such as this is its asymmetry and explains that without meeting basic human needs like identity recognition security and participation resolving any protracted social conflict is very difficult The Armenian Azerbaijani case demonstrates how official diplomacy may not be able to solve protracted internal conflicts as without addressing the real causes of the problematic relationship attempts at peace making will always be sporadic and the space for mutual understanding and compromise shrink Geukjian shows that conflict transformation has a particular salience in asymmetric conflicts such as this where the goal is to transform unjust relationships and where a high degree of polarisation between the disputants has taken root Using the Nagorno Karabakh case this book focuses on the anatomy and causes of deadlock in negotiations and highlights the many difficulties in achieving a breakthrough Futile Diplomacy Neil Caplan,2013-10-23 These two volumes provide a careful and balanced behind the scenes account of the intricate diplomatic activity of the period between the first and second Arab Israeli wars Exploiting a range of available archive sources as well as extensive secondary sources they provide an authoritative analysis of the positions and strategies which the principal parties and the would be mediators adopted in the elusive search for a stable peace The author examines the recurring deadlocks in terms of the motives and calculations of the various parties and reveals how new incentives of pressures offered by outsiders proved incapable of reversing the serious deterioration of Arab Israeli relations as the region headed for war at Suez The text of each volume comprises both analytical historical chapters and a selection of primary documents from archival sources Negotiating Arab-Israeli Peace, Second Edition Laura Zittrain Eisenberg,Neil Caplan,2010-07-14 Thoroughly updated and expanded this new edition of Negotiating Arab Israeli Peace examines the history of recurrent efforts to resolve the Arab Israeli conflict and identifies a pattern of negative negotiating behaviors that seem to repeatedly derail efforts to achieve peace In a lively and accessible style Laura Zittrain Eisenberg and Neil Caplan examine eight case studies of recent Arab Israeli diplomatic encounters from the Egyptian Israeli peace of 1979 to the beginning of the Obama administration in light of the historical record By measuring contemporary diplomatic episodes against the pattern of counterproductive negotiating habits this book makes possible a coherent comparison of over sixty years of Arab Israeli negotiations and gives readers a framework with which to assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of peace making attempts past present and future
